864 Reds Killed, 5 Day Toll 1,300

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — South Vietnamese paratroopers and U.S. Marines reported 864 enemy soldiers killed Sunday in two battles 50 miles apart on South Vietnam's inflamed central coast.

The reported enemy death toll soared to more than 1,300 in five days of coastal fighting in the vicinity of Quang Ngai City, 330 miles northeast of Saigon, and Da Nang.

A government spokesman said that the South Vietnamese paratroopers together with air strikes and artillery barrages killed 746 attacking North Vietnamese regulars in a battle that began Sunday morning and raged until dusk. He said the ground troops killed 346 enemy soldiers and the air and artillery bombardments accounted for 400 more.

The Vietnamese battalion of some 700 men suffered moderate casualties in repulsing attacks by more than 1,200 Communists, the spokesman said.

A multibattalion force of U.S. Marines on Operation Stone, 13 miles south of Da Nang, also fought a pitched battle with guerrillas Sunday in rolling foothills and reported killing 118 while suffering light casualties.

Light fighting was reported in several other areas, but there was nothing comparable to the battling near Quang Ngai City, where South Vietnamese troops and Korean and U.S. Marines are pushing a giant drive against an estimated regiment of North Vietnamese regulars.

Bomb North Highways

More than 200 U.S. Air Force Navy and Marine planes flew 77 missions over North Vietnam Sunday. Continuing bad weather again limited the number of targets as well as assessment of damage. Most of the raids were against coastal shipping and targets in the southern panhandle. But several Air Force planes bombed highways 70 to 80 miles west of Hanoi.

One flight of F4C Phantom jets reported seeing two Communist MIGs 30 miles west of Hanoi, but the Communist planes fled when the Americans turned toward them, a U.S. spokesman said.

The U.S. destroyer Duncan reported damaging a 60-foot cargo boat in the Gulf of Tonkin 19 miles northwest of Dong Hoi. A spokesman said the Duncan fired illuminating rounds to identify the enemy vessel and then opened fire with its five-inch guns.

U.S. B52s continued their raids on suspected enemy positions in South Vietnam, hitting once Sunday night and three times today.

Two of the raids today were in support of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division's Operation Sam Houston near the Cambodian border 230 miles northwest of Saigon. It was the 10th B52 raid in that area since Thursday, when the GI's killed 128 infiltrating North Vietnamese.

The third B52 mission was in Phuoc Tuy Province 36 miles southeast of Saigon. The raid Sunday was in northernmost

Official Mum On JFK's Probe

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — A district attorney is keeping secret the details of an investigation he says he is making of the Kennedy assassination, contending federal intervention might only slow him down.

Jim Garrison, betting his investigators can prove a conspiracy in New Orleans led to the death of President John F. Kennedy, scorned a suggestion he give his facts to the U.S. attorney general who could pass it on to President Johnson.

"I am running this investigation, not the President, not the attorney general," said Garrison.

ceived in New Orleans, that he will find and arrest the conspirators and that he will obtain convictions caused widespread furor.

Just what does he know at this point?

"Well, I can't sum it up in terms of individuals or what might turn out to be evidence. I can say that we have been investigating the role of the city of New Orleans in the assassination of President Kennedy and we have made some progress. At least we were making progress until the newspapers revealed a number of details.

"We were keeping it confidential and were hoping to keep it confidential until the time came to make arrests."

The district attorney refused to go into the question of whether only Lee Harvey Oswald was involved in the assassination of Kennedy in Dallas Nov. 22, 1963.

"I'd rather not comment on that," Garrison said.

early Saturday morning and firemen battled the flames more than four hours before the blaze was brought under control by firefighters from several area companies. On Sunday, Route 9 was blocked off in the area because of the crowds of persons who motored to Hyde Park to see remains of the conflagration.

Last Thursday morning, fire caused heavy damage to The Squires Inn on Route 9 at Dorsey Lane, Hyde Park.

Tall Trees, a showplace in the town of Wappinger for many years, had been converted into five apartment units.

Fire Destroys Dutchess Mansion; 3rd in 3 Days

Dutchess County's third major fire in three days demolished an old mansion known as Tall Trees at Hughsonville, Town of Wappinger Saturday night. During the height of the spectacular blaze flames shot 100 feet into the air and could be seen for miles around.

Meanwhile, ruins of the six-story, two-story frame building on Route 9 next to the site of the town hall which was destroyed by fire some time ago, continued to smolder and a fire department detail remained at the scene.

Lindsay Liquor Levy Fizzes, Expanded Lottery Has Chance

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The proposal advanced by New York's Mayor John V. Lindsay for a new, 90-cent-a-bottle statewide tax on liquor faced tough sledding in the Legislature today.

Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia, the ranking Democrat, told The Associated Press he would have "an awfully difficult time" trying to win approval for such a levy.

"I can't see anybody going for it," Travia said. "In fact, any new taxes would be the same story."

But Travia said Lindsay's companion plan to expand the proposed state lottery from four to eight drawings a year might win acceptance.

"I've tried to hold down the number of drawings, but I might be able to readjust my thinking on that," the powerful legislative leader said.

Lindsay offered the liquor-tax proposal and the enlarged lottery plan last week as devices to raise more revenue for all communities in the state. Money collected by the state from the liquor levy and the extra lotteries would be returned to the communities where they originated.

Sources close to Gov. Rockefeller indicated last week that he looked with favor on the lottery plan but was reluctant to to along with the liquor tax suggestion.

In any event, the Legislature's approval would be needed — and Travia holds virtual life-or-death power over measures brought before his house.

Lindsay's tax proposals also drew a negative reaction over the weekend from the top Democrat in the Senate, Minority Leader Joseph Zaretzki.

"These are bad taxes," Zaretzki declared in a radio interview. "Some of these proposals are really harmful."

Discussion of the Lindsay program captured attention on Capitol Hill as the Senate and Assembly prepared to resume working sessions, Monday afternoon.

Among major business on this week's agenda was the election of a member of the State Board of Regents to succeed Thad L. Cullum of the Syracuse suburb of Fayetteville. Cullum has resigned, effective April 1.

Indications were that Republicans would yield in their opposition to the Democratic choice, Syracuse University Dean Stephen K. Bailey.

The GOP challenged Bailey's eligibility in view of an old conflict-of-interest law that bars university "officers" from serving simultaneously as a regent. But Democrats said they would press for Bailey's election and let the courts settle the issue later, if necessary.

A showdown was scheduled Tuesday, when the Senate and Assembly are to meet in joint session to elect Cullum's successor. The Democrats will be numerically superior and thus should be able to dictate the outcome.

In response to questions, the Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges, indicated the GOP might wind up supporting Bailey.

Brydges said the GOP never had questioned Bailey's basic academic qualifications and that his grown concern, that the dispute over his technical eligibility might cast reflections on his reputation as an educator.

The recent's post pays no salary but is widely coveted for its prestige value, since the board prescribes policy for all educational endeavor in this state.

Brydges said the GOP - controlled Senate also might seek passage this week of the bipartisan direct - primary bill — a plan for substituting a primary election for the old state convention system of nominating candidates for governor and other statewide offices.

The primary bill was amended in the Senate last week to insert a precise timetable for putting the primary election machinery into motion.

Denies Vassar Decision on Move to Yale

Replying to criticism last week by Dr. Henry Noble MacCracken, president emeritus of Vassar College, John Wilkie, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the college, has denied that "a decision has been made" about the proposed move to Yale University.

MacCracken had called the study to determine whether Vassar would move to New Haven, Conn., "fantastic, irresponsible, dangerous and disengenuous."

Wilkie, former resident of Dutchess County and now a resident of Katonah, Westchester County, has been Board chairman since 1961 and a trustee since 1940. He was college treasurer from 1941 until elected board chairman.

In a prepared statement, Wilkie pledged that if a decision to move is made "the corporate and educational identity of the college would be preserved. The path to be chosen will have to meet our best judgment as to how Vassar, as a women's college, can most widely and effectively meet the challenge of its 50 to 100 years."

Lloyd Action Advised To Save Historic House

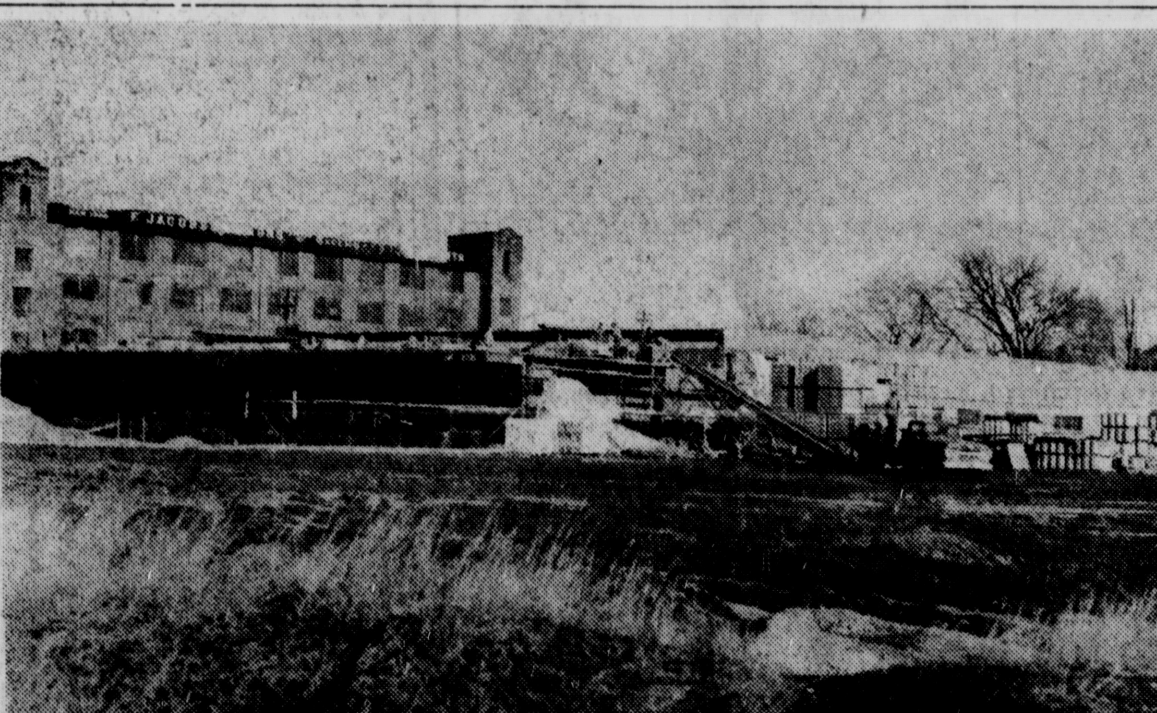

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Ulster County said today he has urged the Town of Lloyd to take action at the local level to preserve a historic landmark in that town, the Ruben-Deyo Halfway House, which was a well known inn and stage-stop in colonial days.

In a letter to Supervisor Thomas Shay of Lloyd, Assemblyman Wilson said if the town passes a resolution to the effect that local efforts will be made to save the historic site, he would then initiate the necessary action through the New York State Historic Trust to obtain State funds for the project.

The Assemblyman said he has discussed the problem of the Half-Way House with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, the Historic Trust, and the Department of Public Works, and has had correspondence with various members of a local committee which has been formed on behalf of the local landmark. According to Wilson, the State has investigated the matter, and while it is agreed that the Ruben-Deyo House has great local historic significance, the home does not meet the standards of a State historic site. The Assemblyman added he agreed that the building should be preserved, but said that since the house has historical meaning only within the Town of Lloyd, then any such action should be initiated at the local level.

It was further said by Assemblyman Wilson that the problem was brought about by the need for a new approach to the Mid-Hudson Bridge, and the fact that the proposed new route will be over the land upon which the Ruben-Deyo House now stands. Wilson said the Department of Public Works made efforts to revise their plans so that the house would not have to be moved, but this was found to be impossible. The Assemblyman pointed out that the house itself was sold at public auction last year, but that the contract could not be completed until some means was devised to move the building, and despite several extensions of time by the State, all efforts to raise the necessary funds for moving the home have failed.

According to Assemblyman Wilson, the only course of action which seems to remain is a cooperative effort between the Town of Lloyd and the State, and he added that the State could contribute up to 50 per cent of the cost of such a project. Wilson warned, that immediate action must be taken by the Town of Lloyd since the building must be moved before start of construction on the new approach to the bridge, which will be early this spring.

POST OFFICE WORK PROGRESSES—The exterior of the new Kingston Post Office at Smith Avenue and Cornell Street nears completion, as shown above. Construction of the building, at a cost of $550,000, is being done by the M. F. B. Corporation—also known as McCloskey and Co., Inc., of Philadelphia. The firm won the bid in May for the building, which will measure 34,000 square feet on the inside. Included will be 4,600 feet of platform space and a large parking area. Located on the former Athletic Field, the building is expected to be completed in July. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Will Continue For Year or Two

Ulster County Community College will continue to use the facilities now occupied at 214 West Chestnut Street as a second campus for both full and part time students for the next year or two while Phase II of the Stone Ridge campus is being constructed, according to an announcement made by college president, Dr. Dale B. Lake today.

Careful Analysis

Members of the college faculty and administration have made a careful analysis of student enrollment projections and college needs, and have recommended that the West Chestnut Street facility be used primarily for the Division of Business. Of the full time enrollment, approximately one-third are matriculating in one of the business programs. By designating this portion of the college program for the West Chestnut Street facility, there will be sufficient space for considerably more flexibility in the business division program and scheduling than would be possible within the space limitations and restrictions of the buildings now under construction in Stone Ridge.

The College Board of Trustees have been considering for several months the feasibility of a multi-campus operation. It has been recognized from the very beginning that the facilities being provided in Phase I of the Stone Ridge campus construction would be inadequate, and would not provide sufficient space to serve the number of students enrolled on a full time basis when the college first occupies the new campus.

Designed for 650

The four buildings now under construction at Stone Ridge were initially designed for 650 full time students. It was recognized even before the construction was started that this was inadequate, but the college was limited in the amount of construction in the first phase of campus development by the fact that Ulster County's contribution could not exceed $650,000.

The total financial resources for the first phase of campus development totaled just over $250,000. Of that amount Ulster County is providing $650,000. Trustee Emeritus Macdonald DeWitt contributed approximately $170,000. Federal Grant was received of about $829,000, and the State of New York funds are available in the amount of approximately $820,000.

In addition to this, there was a $54,000 appraisal for the land which was made available to the county, without cost, through the generosity of gifts of land by Francis Leggett, by Maurice and Edward Davenport, and by cash contributions by a group of Ulster County citizens who purchased and contributed to the county a one third parcel of land. The property contributed to the county totaled $22.28 acres.

850 In September

The decision to operate a two-campus college became necessary when it is recognized that the full time enrollment at the college for this coming September will be 850, with consistent growth anticipated each year in the future. It is projected that even if the Phase II construction can be completed within two years, the full time enrollment at the college will be about 1,000 students. When this is contrasted to the capacity of the buildings in Phase I, it is apparent why the college Board of Trustees found it necessary to

County Has Fifth Highway Victim; 1 of 6 in State

Highway fatalities in New York State over the weekend claimed the lives of six persons, including 20-year-old Lawrence Anthony DePhillips, of 313 Figlar Avenue, Fairfield, Conn., who was killed in a one-car mishap at 2:50 a. m. Sunday near Plattekill.

Four other persons died in other types of accidents.

Ahead of '66 Pace

DePhillips was Ulster County's fifth highway fatality of 1967. The fifth traffic death in 1966 occurred on Jan. 9 when four persons were killed in a two-car head-on collision on Route 9W at West Park. Victims of that mishap were residents of Bedford, Westchester County.

Ulster County Coroner William S. Keyser of Kingston reportedly ruled death of DePhillips was caused by a compound fracture of the skull and other injuries.

State Trooper Thomas Crowley of the Kingston barracks and Trooper J. F. Czaplicki of Highland said investigation showed the car operated by DePhillips was traveling east on Route 44-55 and negotiating a sharp curve at Pancake Hollow Road near the Rocking Horse Farm, Town of Plattekill, when the driver lost control.

'Wrapped Around Pole'

The vehicle careened across the highway and slammed into a utility pole. Troopers said the car was virtually "wrapped around the pole."

The wrecked car, owned by Lillian DePhillips of Fairfield was towed from the scene.

Investigating with Coroner Keyser were Sergeant Donald Paulsen, BCI investigator Roger Gardner, and Troopers David Wachtel and Stanley Kowalik.

Second of Month

The Plattekill fatality was the second to occur in Ulster County this month. On Feb. 2, George W. King, 25, of 221 Partition Street, Saugerties, was fatally injured when a car in which he was riding crashed into a dividing guard rail and overturned on Route 9W, Town of Ulster.

Robert Lattimore, 25, of the Saugerties address, was the operator of the car in which King was a passenger. He was seriously injured in the mishap.

Heart Notes $6,106 In Partial Returns

Many dedicated volunteers have been working throughout February, Heart Month, for the cause of striking a blow against the nation's No. 1 killer — heart diseases.

On Sunday, Feb. 19, Heart Sunday, Heart Fund Headquarters remained open for the purpose of receiving the tabulations of Heart Sunday donations from throughout Ulster County.

With under 50 per cent of the townships reporting on Sunday, the total collected amounted to $6,106.63, according to Miss Katherine A. Bower, executive director of the local Mid-Hudson Heart Association, Inc., office.

Some of the partial results for Heart Sunday, Miss Bower said were:

City of Kingston, $1,734.01.
Esopus, $328.25; Hurley, $714.96; Town of Kingston, $83; Marlinton, $321; Olive, $78.50; Plattekill, $417.75; Rochester, $376.75; Rosendale, $526; Shandaken, $341.95; Ulster, $566.75 and Woodstock $417.71.

Franklin S. Kelder, 1967 Heart Fund Chairman for the County of Ulster said, "The splendid response of the people of Ulster County to the 1967 Heart Fund appeal is dramatic evidence that they understand the seriousness of the heart problem. It also demonstrates their strong conviction that the Heart Association's program of research, education and community service is the most effective way to combat and eventually to control this leading health menace.

The Mid-Hudson Heart Association is indebted to all the many volunteers who donate their time and energy in making the 1967 Heart Fund a success and also to all the people who gave so generously to help make the Heart Fund surpass its goal. In addition to applauding the public's support of the drive, Kelder extended the Association's thanks to the local newspapers and broadcasting stations for their cooperation, and to the lay

One Man and His House Dare To Challenge 'The Company'

VINDEK, Md. (AP) — The May 1 to get out of town — everybody except Newton McRobbie given everybody in Vindex until

The 32 families who have received notices to vacate their company-owned houses seem reconciled to leaving, although most of them say they don't know where they will go.

McRobbie a Problem

McRobbie presents a problem for the company. He owns his house. He says he isn't going to leave without it and at 69 he is too old to take it with him.

There, for the moment, matters stand. Johnstown Coal & Coke built Vindex in 1906 and sustained it with coal mining in the hills hereabouts. Now Johnstown is selling Vindex and the land around it to the Douglas Coal Co.

James Polino, head of Douglas, says he plans strip, or surface operations as well as deep mining in the western Maryland area near the border of West Virginia.

Takes Blasting

"Stripping coal takes a lot of blasting," says Polino. "You can't strip coal and do a lot of blasting with people in the way."

Two of these people are Ellis Ellifritz and his wife. Ellifritz, 50, was born and raised in Vindex. He worked for Johnstown until 1950 when it closed operations. Now he works for the Garrett County Roads Department in Nearby Oakland.

Ellifritz and his wife have lived in the five-room frame house since shortly after their marriage in 1938.

A Company Life

He has paid his $9.66-a-month rent to the company, his electric bill to the company, used to buy his groceries from a company store and got his water free from the company.

What are the Ellifritzes going to do? "Land, I don't know," says Mrs. Ellifritz.

"We ain't got a house yet. We'd like to move to Oakland on account of, being closer to his work. We'd have to rent. It would be hard for us to pay more rent. But, as the situation is, I suppose we'll have to."

Living Rent Free

Polino says he has told the families they can remain in their homes, rent free, until the May 1 deadline.

Harold Adams, a representative of Johnstown Coal & Coke, says the company has told the families they can buy the houses and move them to a new location. That may be the solution for some, but not McRobbie.

McRobbie once owned seven acres that had coal underneath it. Johnstown Coal & Coke traded him a lot and a house in Vindex for the property. So McRobbie is the only resident of Vindex who owns his home.

Trying to Trade

Adams has talked to McRobbie about trading the property for some land outside the town.

Said McRobbie: "But the way it is with me now I ain't able to build anymore. I'm 69 and my lungs ain't too good."

"I began working here in 1914 when I was 16 or 17 and I worked in the mines for 45 years. If you work in the mines that long, you get a little sand dust in your lungs. It cuts your wind after you get up in age."

"When they traded me the house, I was supposed to get electric and water. Now that they're going out of business, they're going to cut it off."

"Well, I'm going to stay anyway. There is a spring nearby and we have a supply of kerosene lamps."

The Bronze Star was awarded to Johnson, a four-year veteran, for capturing four Viet Cong and killing one of the enemy in heroic action Sept. 23, 1966, while serving with Company B, 2nd Battalion, 12th Cavalry. He was on a search and destroy mission when he overcame two Viet Cong in a foxhole. After their capture he proceeded to expose four more of the enemy killing one, wounding another and causing the remaining two to flee.

Cpl. Johnson received the Air Medal for participating in sustained aerial flight in support of combat ground forces. He participated in 25 missions over hostile territory displaying "the highest order of air discipline and acting in accordance with the best traditions of the service."

The local serviceman, husband of the former Carolyn Cummins of Freemont, Mich., served in Korea and later at Fort Benning, Ga. before going to Vietnam in February, 1966.

A former resident of Niagara Falls, Johnson attended Kingston High School completing his education in the service.

Vienna Director
Cops Film Awards

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The man for this season of film directing awards is Vienna-born Fred Zinnemann, whose quiet manner shields a will of iron.

So far he has swept the awards — New York Film Critics, Directors Guild, Golden Globes. He unquestionably will be among the five candidates for best direction when the Academy Award nominations are announced today, and he will be the man to beat. In 18 years the winner of the Directors Guild award has never failed to capture the Oscar.

Took Big Chance

All this is very pleasing to Zinnemann, of course. Particularly because he took a long "chance" with "A Man For All Seasons." Plus which the film marked a return to hitdom after an inlanguorous flop.

"I had long been enthusiastic about the play, 'A Man For All Seasons,'" he recounted over lunch at the Brown Derby. "When I discussed making another picture for Columbia, I brought up the idea of filming it. The project didn't meet with any great reaction — understandably so. It was not a surefire commercial film."

"But Mike Frankovich (Columbia production boss) proved a tower of strength. He was behind me all the way, and he argued that 'A Man For All Seasons' could be worth the risk if it were made for a price."

"I felt a definite responsibility to make the film good and for a reasonable cost. After all, my last picture for Columbia had been 'Behold a Pale Horse,' which had cost of lot of money and didn't make much — and it got Columbia in bad with the Spanish government."

Peck-Quinn Film

The Gregory Peck-Anthony Quinn film, which showed recently on television, caused all Columbia products to be banned in Spain. It dealt unflatteringly with the Franco side in the Spanish civil war.

The film concerned a man's battle with his conscience, a recurring theme in Zinnemann movies. The theme is brilliantly delineated in "A Man For All Seasons," in which Thomas More faces the will of Henry VIII.

Manchester Says Plans Were Made to Dump LBJ in 1964

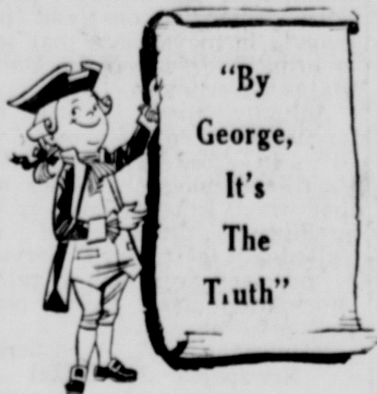

By ARTHUR EVERETT
NEW YORK (AP) — Immediately after President John F. Kennedy's assassination, one of his aides is quoted as wondering if Lyndon B. Johnson could be dumped as Democratic candidate in 1964, presumably in favor of Robert F. Kennedy.

Look magazine's serialization of his book, "The Death of a President," also says President Kennedy had selected Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara as his next secretary of state, intending to replace Dean Rusk. Regarding the 1964 nomination, Manchester writes of Kennedy's White House aide, Arthur Schlesinger Jr.:

Concern Grew

"Concern over the new president grew. Schlesinger wondered whether Lyndon Johnson should be his party's candidate in the coming election. He conferred with Chairman John Bailey, asking him whether it would be possible to deny the new president the nomination."

Manchester says Bailey, Democratic national chairman, said it might be technically feasible, but would cost the Democrats the election.

Later in the installment, Manchester quotes John Kenneth

Galbraith, writer and economist, as saying of Schlesinger that he "was dwelling on the possibility of a ticket in 1964 headed by Bob Kennedy and Hubert Humphrey."

Instead, Johnson ran with Humphrey in 1964 and scored a landslide victory over Republican Barry Goldwater.

At the first cabinet meeting after the assassination, Manchester said Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy inadvertently arrived late, and that Johnson took this as an intentional snub.

The author adds: "Clearly, Johnson regarded the late president's brother as a formidable obstacle."

Mac Aware of Plans

At Mrs. John F. Kennedy's suite in Bethesda Naval Hospital the night of the assassination, Manchester says Secretary McNamara was asked by Charles Bartlett, a newspaper columnist and friend of the president, whether he knew he was supposed to be secretary of state in Kennedy's second term.

"Charlie had heard it from the president," Manchester went on. "The secretary of defense nodded slowly. 'I don't know what I could have done about policy, but I could have helped with the administration,' he said."

Manchester writes that it was Nicholas Katzenbach, acting as attorney general during Robert Kennedy's bereavement, who proposed an investigation of the assassination by the commission that Chief Justice Earl Warren later headed.

Katzenbach, Manchester says, learned that Johnson tentatively had decided upon a Texas commission, which would exclude all non-Texans. To head off this plan, Katzenbach was said to have gone to Abe Fortas, a Washington attorney close to Johnson.

"He bluntly labelled Johnson's idea a ghastly mistake," the author says.

Manchester mentions that during the first days after the Nov. 22, 1963, assassination the possibility of a conspiracy haunted Washington. It was heightened when the accused assassin, Lee Harvey Oswald, was shot to death Nov. 24, 1963, by Jack Ruby.

The Secret Service sought to dissuade Johnson from walking behind the gun carriage carrying Kennedy's body during the funeral. Johnson was said to have at first agreed. Later, he was quoted as saying Mrs. Johnson told him he should march "so I changed my mind."

After his election as president in 1964, Manchester said Johnson seemed to forget that he had asked President Kennedy's aides to stay on in his administration. The author said "the very mention of their names would annoy him" and that within a year he was so resentful of the Kennedy aura that any White House employee who wore a PT109 tie clip "would run the risk of incurring the presidential wrath."

The final installment is marked by poignant personal passages. There is Mrs. Kennedy's successful fight to have the presidential coffin sealed, even though Manchester says the president's face was not damaged by the assassin's bullets. "They have to remember Jack alive," Mrs. Kennedy is quoted. Robert Kennedy sided with her.

Business Mirror Reflections

Split Interest Rates Have Bank Giants Riding Fence

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The banking giants aren't saving much about it, but the unprecedented case of the prime rate split pervades their melancholy meetings where, pokerfaced, each awaits the other's move. And the clock ticks on.

Somebody has to make that move, even if it doesn't come until spring. And, judging by the grave demeanors, that might be the case: spring and the prime rate together.

Chase Dropped Rate

The situation developed Jan. 26 when Chase Manhattan Bank lowered its prime interest rate to 5½ per cent. The decrease wasn't a surprise. The timing and the size of it were.

Most other banks in the nation then dropped their prime rates, which are the rates the best customers receive and which over the months are reflected in consumer borrowing rates, to 5½ per cent.

Generally, all large banks reach a consensus very quickly, often in a day or two. In this instance it did not happen, and among the very largest banks, Chase now stands alone. A split rate exists.

Never before has a split existed this long. The situation is unprecedented. Since such a situation never before developed in the normal course of business, there's a suspicion that something other than market factors are at work.

Some have guessed that politics are. This is based partly on the timing, for the Chase move came shortly after the Johnson hopes of keeping interest rates lower than in 1966.

Prestige definitely is a factor. Chase naturally would like to see the other banks follow it. Its chief New York rival, First National City Bank, hopes that its rate of 5½ per cent will prevail.

Sides Chosen

Meanwhile, sides have been chosen. Chase reportedly has received some unsolicited indications of business support. It has been reliably reported also that at least one business backed its opinion with a big cash deposit.

When a bank drops its rate it is, in effect, declaring its opinion that business is slowing, that the demand for loans at the higher rate is not sufficient. The rate drop is aimed at attracting customers.

However, in Chicago and New York business last week borrowed more heavily than a couple of weeks ago, although this is partly a seasonal trend. Demand was described as moderately firm.

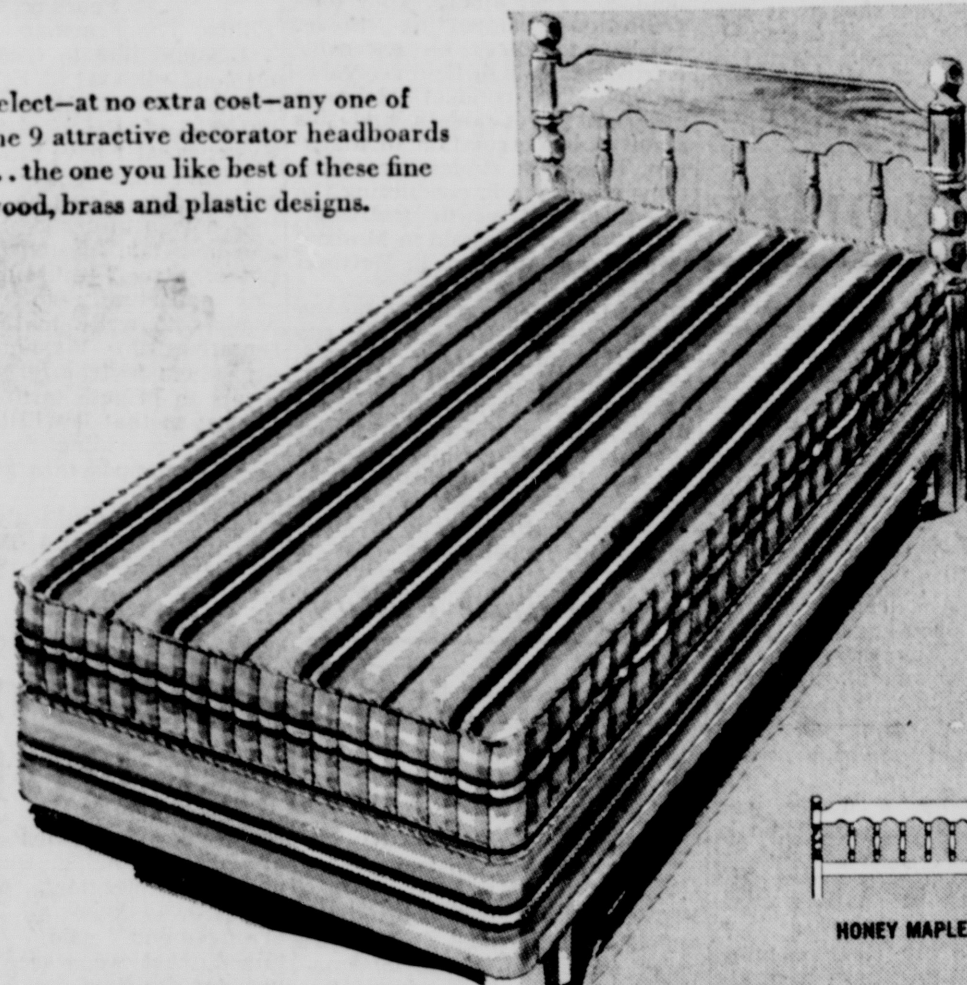

The big question is which way will this demand go from here? The Federal Reserve has a lot to say about this.

Some supporters of the Chase position, that prime interest rates should be about 5½ per cent rather than 5¼ per cent, seem to feel the Fed will free even more money, thus helping to push rates lower.

Just as many critics exist who feel the Fed might turn in the opposite direction. Somebody will have to budge.

Christmas in February

BROOKVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Marine Col. Frank Ferraro Jr., 19, came home from Vietnam in the middle of February and got a Christmas welcome — his mother kept up the Christmas tree.

"I was really surprised to see the tree," said Ferraro. "Mom said she's try to keep it up until I got home, but I wasn't sure." His mother Mrs. Frank Ferraro Sr. of Brookville said: "I watered the tree every four days, I was determined to have it for Frank when he got home. Now, I can celebrate Christmas.

Eastman Notes Sales, Earnings Increase Again

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — The Eastman Kodak Co. reports the 12th consecutive year of increased sales and the 14th straight of higher earnings in its annual statement for 1966.

Officials of the photographic firm said Sunday that consolidated sales of the company's U. S. units last year totaled $1,741,683,000, up 19 per cent from the 1965 figure of $1,463,485,000. Net earnings jumped $70.5 million, or 28 per cent, to $318.1 million, equal to $3.94 per share of common stock. In 1965, earnings of $247,625,000 equaled $3.07 per share.

Rosendale Board Meets Tuesday

Joseph Reid, candidate for mayor in the Village of Rosendale, invites all taxpayers in the village who have any grievances, resentments or complaints concerning the assessments of their respective properties to appear before the board Tuesday, February 21 to hear such complaints. The board will meet from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m. and from 7 p. m. to 9 p. m. to avail themselves for the correction of any inequities that may exist. Reid states that in his present capacity as a Village Trustee he has noted what he considers to be a number of glaring inequities in the assessment of properties in the village and that as a trustee he cannot and will not affix his certification until these are corrected. Reid declares he and his fellow Trustee Joseph La

Fera have made a number of attempts to arrange a meeting with the village assessor to go over the assessment rolls with him in order to air some of the points that should be reviewed, but the assessor was unable for some reason to appear at the meetings.

Support Growing For City Hall In Rondout Area

Support of a plan to build a new city hall in the Rondout area of Kingston, was approved at a recent meeting of the Rondout Advisory Committee held at the Rondout Neighborhood Center. It was made known by the Ulster County Community Action Committee, Inc.

Eddie Parker, chairman of the committee announced formation of the following groups:

Committee for Day Care Center — Mrs. Reginald McHugh, Eddie Parker, Mrs. Jean Van Dyke, Mrs. Gladys James, Mrs. Barbara Roach, Mrs. Frances Ector and Miss Edna Spencer.

Committee for Family Planning — Irving Bell, Miss Helen Gensel, Mrs. Joseph Lawson Jr., and Mrs. Van Dyke.

Committee for Manpower Development — The Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, Joseph Lawson Jr., the Rev. Richard A. Guile, Irving Bell, Mrs. Barbara Roach and Miss Spencer.

Albert Brown, community organizer in the Rondout area and director of the Neighborhood Center, announced at the meeting that membership of the committees will be enlarged and anyone wishing to serve on one or more groups should contact him at the Center, 58 Broadway.

Mrs. Van Dyke was proposed by the advisory committee to fill the post of neighborhood aide at the Rondout Neighborhood Center. Final decision on hiring a second neighborhood aide was deferred until the next meeting scheduled for Wednesday, Feb. 22 at 7:30 p. m. at the Service Center on lower Broadway. Anyone interested in the activities of the group is invited to attend the meeting.

Father of A-Bomb Dies, Predicted Dark Days Ahead

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — After the atomic bomb he helped create had done its work in World War II, J. Robert Oppenheimer returned from a visit to Europe and said he foresaw a dark future.

"For," he said, "men of our times will never have a sense of security again."

Oppenheimer died of throat cancer Saturday night at his home in Princeton where he had spent 18 years as director of the Institute for Advanced Study.

Scientists around the world sent words of praise and grief at news of the death of the man who has been called "the father of the atomic bomb."

Retired East June Oppenheimer had retired last June as director of the Institute because he said he wanted time "to seek an understanding, both historical and philosophical, of what the sciences have brought to human life."

A tall nervous man who chain-smoked, Oppenheimer had a keen sense of humanity which many of his friends, in speaking of him, mentioned.

When the first atomic bomb was exploded in the New Mexico desert in 1945, a project he directed for over two years with such energy that his slender frame was reduced to 115 pounds — he recalled the Hindu scripture: "I am become death, the shatterer of worlds."

In 1954, Oppenheimer was denied access to atomic secrets as a security risk. The Atomic Energy Commission found that although Oppenheimer was loyal, he was a security risk, in part because his association with known Communists "extended far beyond the tolerable limits of prudence and self-restraint."

Denied Red Ties He had denied that he had Communist ties but said that he had known Communists in the late 1930s and early 1940s.

"I did not regard them as dangerous," he said, "and some of their declared objectives seemed to me desirable."

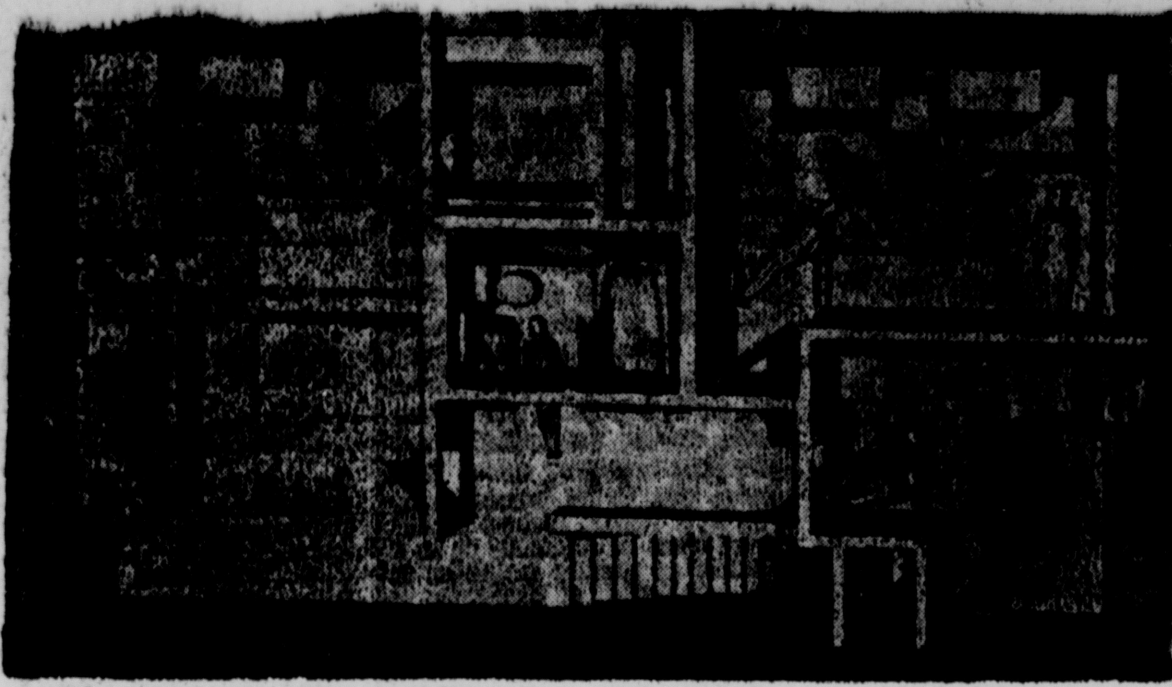

Nine years later, in 1953, the AEC gave Oppenheimer its highest honor, the $50,000 Enrico Fermi Award. President Johnson presented him with the award, and it was speculated that he might return to secret government work.

But he remained at the Institute for Advanced Study.

The man who directed 4,500 workers in the building of the first atomic bomb, and who was called "Oppie" by his close friends, was born in New York City. He attended Manhattan's Ethical Culture School, then went to Harvard and later to Cambridge University in England. He received his doctorate from Gettysburg University in Germany at the age of 23.

Adam Not Alone In Nepotism, Pay Is Over $355,000

EDITOR'S NOTE — The Adam Clayton Powell case has turned the spotlight once again on the issue of nepotism and the question of pay roll. To find out how widespread the practice is, an Associated Press team of newsmen combed official records and visited offices on Capitol Hill. Here are the findings of their survey.

WASHINGTON (AP) — At least 41 members of Congress have relatives on the congressional pay roll — some at salaries topping $20,000 a year — an Associated Press survey showed today.

Many Relatives This assortment, ranging from wives and children to an aunt and a grandnephew — and even including two mothers-in-law — was turned up in an off-by-office check and confirmed by an examination of pay roll records.

More than a half dozen other congressmen hired kin at the taxpayers' expense some time last year, when salaries paid to relative-employees exceeded $200,000, but have none working for them now.

No law bars nepotism, although Rep. Neal Smith, D-Iowa, again has introduced a bill to prohibit it anywhere within the federal government.

Smith has sponsored similar legislation unsuccessfully each session since 1961.

Smith said that while the case of Adam Clayton Powell is the most widely known, there are other relatives "who perform vital service for the salary paid."

Powell, the controversial Harlem Democrat who was denied his House seat this year pending an investigation, had his wife on his office pay roll (under her maiden name, Y. Marjorie Flores) at $20,578 a year.

After investigators reported she lived in Puerto Rico and did not work for Powell's office, the House Administration Committee ordered her name stricken from the pay roll.

The AP study showed 15 other wives, two daughters, four sons, four brothers, nine sisters, one niece, one grandnephew, one cousin, one uncle, one aunt, one grandaunt, one father, two sisters-in-law, two brothers-in-law, one non-in-law, two mothers-in-law, and one brother-in-law working for the congressional payroll — or were at some time during the past year.

Dem Lead Parade Of the 47 congressmen, 35 are Democrats and 12 are Republicans. This compares with the division of 31 Democrats and 23 Republicans in Congress.

Fourteen of the relatives work in home-state offices, the rest on Capitol Hill.

Four years ago, the wives of 29 House members were on the pay roll, along with 19 other assorted relatives. That is two less relatives than found in today's survey. Then, as now, most of their bosses made no attempt to "hide" the fact.

West defines nepotism as "bestowal of patronage by reason of relationship rather than merit." But most members who hire relatives claim their employment isn't nepotism at all, in this sense.

They argue the real test should be whether the wife or relative is a bona fide staff member who is qualified for the job, works hard and earns the salary.

Man Found Dead In Auto; Rule Apparent Suicide

Joseph Corkery, 58, of Colonial Gardens, was found dead in a car this morning not far from his home.

Coroner William S. Keyser said death apparently resulted of suicide from carbon monoxide poisoning.

Found by Son-in-Law Police were notified at 7:19 a. m. that a man was apparently dead in the car parked in a lot near Colonial Gardens. Detective Wilmont Hall with officers Joseph Kivian and Joseph Ferrara investigated. He had been found in the car by James Bonestell, of Colonial Gardens, a son-in-law.

A taxi driver, Corkery was injured in an accident in April, 1965, and was reported in ill health since then.

A native and lifelong resident of Kingston, he was the son of the late Cornelius and Marcella Gorry Corkery. He had been employed 26 years as a dispatcher for the Cornell Steamboat Company, and later for the Fatum Taxi Company. He had most recently been employed by Eastman Cleaners, Poughkeepsie. He was an active member of Rapid Hose Company No. 1, and was on the coaching staff of the Bathing League for a number of years.

Surviving are his wife the former Eleanor Dunbar; two daughters, Mrs. Jay (Carol) Klitzner and Mrs. James (Barbara) Bonestell; two sons, Terrance Corkery and PFC Wayne Corkery, presently stationed in Vietnam; sisters, Mrs. William Lane, and Mrs. Robert Edge, all of Kingston. Five grandchildren also survive.

Funeral will be held from the Jensen and Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs Street, Wednesday 9:30 a. m. thence to St. Mary's Church where at 10 a. m. a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home tonight 7 to 9 and Tuesday 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m.

Pearson announced that a number of persons have already indicated a strong interest in attending the Action Assembly which will revolve around the concept that "Concern about state affairs is meaningless without enlightened action." Pearson indicated that the Action Assemblies are designed to "help you learn how you can apply your enlightened action as an individual, as a businessman and as a community leader to shape the trends and solve the problems and resolve the key issues of the day."

Pearson announced that the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce is urging as many businessmen as possible to plan to attend the session to be held at Thruway Motor Inn, at Exit 24, will start at 9:30 a. m. and adjourn promptly at 3 p. m. Thus, a Kingston Area resident may leave here as late as 8:30, be back here at 4, and still enjoy the full scope of the program.

"Such a program will never be closer to Kingston than this one," said Pearson, "nor will there ever be a time when the businessman's attention to the issues of the day will be more greatly needed." He concluded by urging all local businessmen to call the Chamber of Commerce office for more details regarding the Action Assembly program.

Named to Head Attendance Unit Of Albany Meet

George Svirsky, president of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, today announced the appointment of William J. Pearson, manager of the New York Telephone Company's business office in Kingston, as the attendance chairman for the 1967 Action Assembly on Trends and Issues.

The Action Assembly will be held Tuesday, Feb. 28, in Albany. It will be co-sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and the Albany Area Chamber of Commerce.

Pearson, who was recently transferred to Kingston, has been with the Telephone Company for six years and came to Kingston August 22 of last year, succeeding G. Alan Johnson who was appointed to the commercial operating staff at the company's headquarters in New York City.

In assuming Action Assembly responsibility, Pearson is continuing an active role in Chamber of Commerce programming which began in the Capitol District where he served in several responsibilities. A native of Watertown, Pearson is a 1960 graduate of Hamilton College in a history major.

Pearson announced that a number of persons have already indicated a strong interest in attending the Action Assembly which will revolve around the concept that "Concern about state affairs is meaningless without enlightened action." Pearson indicated that the Action Assemblies are designed to "help you learn how you can apply your enlightened action as an individual, as a businessman and as a community leader to shape the trends and solve the problems and resolve the key issues of the day."

INVESTOR FORUM

Financial Self-Reliance
America's economic and financial strength is centered in her corporate life. Our country's high standard of living emanates from the efficiency of the giant enterprises that employ millions of people, pay billions of dollars in taxes and enable thrifty stockholders to receive dividends.

The two greatest corporations in the world are General Motors and American Telephone and Telegraph. Together, they employ over 1,500,000 people and indirectly they give employment to a million more.

During 1966, General Motors, American Telephone, Standard Oil of New Jersey, United States Steel and Du Pont gave employment to 2,000,000 persons. They did a total business exceeding $55,000,000,000 and net income was more than $5,500,000,000.

The industrialization of America has made this country the greatest in the world. Ancient civilizations, like India, are still impoverished and weak, despite their age and undeveloped resources, because economic and financial leaders have not been produced.

India is periodically threatened with famine. Right now, America is sending India millions of tons of foodstuffs.

What every impoverished country in the world needs is some agricultural scientists, some inventive geniuses and some resourceful industrialists who, operating like the executives of General Motors, AT&T, Standard Oil, U.S. Steel and Du Pont, will lead such countries out of the economic wilderness.

The entire corporate life of America can be a great boon to investors and to those who save money. I speak from experience.

Many years ago when I entered Wall Street from my army service I had no money, no job and no G.I. Bill of Rights. But from the day I got my first paycheck, I started to save and to invest.

I bought ten shares of the bank stock in the institution that gave me employment. I added to those shares year by year, and through growth they have steadily increased in value. To day, they pay me $4,000 in dividends a year. When I started working for the bank, my salary (6 days a week) was $1,800 a year.

There are hundreds of corporations in America whose common stocks are superb purchases for every individual with a job who can and will save and invest.

There is no adequate substitute for financial self-reliance. And any young person who, at age 25, will start saving and investing, will have 40 years (if retirement comes at 65) in which to build such reliance.

I despise socialism in all its forms. Thrift, saving and sound investment form the grand triumvirate in building financial self-reliance. And I would commend it highly to every reader of these lines who wants to be his own financial boss.

Probe $100,000 Troy Blaze, 30 Autos Destroyed

TROY, N.Y. (AP)—Fire officials sought the cause today of a garage fire that destroyed about 30 automobiles Sunday night and caused damage estimated at $100,000.

Ernest Knowles, owner of Knowles Pontiac, made the damage estimate. He said his firm had stored at least 25 automobiles on the first floor of the concrete, used-car garage and the remainder on the second floor. Some of the cars were new, he said.

Bills Filed Would Curb Preferred Rates

ALBANY. — Leonard Braun, president of the Empire State Association (ESPA) today heralded the introduction of bills in the New York State Legislature seeking to curb gas and electric utilities from granting excessive "favors" or preferences to "select" consumers.

He said the bills, if enacted, will protect the public from unjust rate increases and insure the more than 5,000 independent small businessmen like the retail fuel dealer the chance to stay in business in a truly competitive atmosphere.

Braun referred to bills introduced by Assemblyman George A. Cincotta (D) Pings, and State Senator John D. Colandra (R) Bronx.

Braun said the bills would force the big utility companies to reveal exactly how much money they are spending on the "favoritism" items of rebates, sales bonuses, cost allowances and other subsidies to a select few consumers.

Under the proposed legislation, the utilities would have to report the "favoritism" expenses to the Public Service Commission. The money spent, Braun said, "would come out of utility profits, not out of operating expenses which are the basis for establishing the rate charges. In turn, this rate is passed on to every user of gas and electricity."

Agriculture accounts for about 40% of Kansas' income.

Wife's Solution — Really Surrender

Ibigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Last year my sister's husband was killed in an accident. Since they lived only a few blocks from us, she turned to my husband for help in making all the arrangements, business decisions, etc. One thing led to another and now they are in love.

They have never admitted it, but they don't have to, it is so obvious when they are together. He stops by her house every evening before coming home. My sister is younger than I, and much prettier, and she and her husband hadn't been compatible for a long time before his death. I love my sister, but my husband is my whole life.

I would divorce him but there are many children (and even grandchildren) to be considered. If they decided to be noble and give each other up, where would that leave me?

I have been trying to think up ways to commit suicide to make it look like an accident to spare the family embarrassment, but that isn't easy. And I'm not sure I could actually do it. However that seems to be the only solution. If you can think of any other way, please answer.

ROPE'S END

DEAR ROPE'S END: This burden is too great for you to carry alone. Confide in your clergyman and ask for his advice. Of one thing I am certain, you can do anything you set your mind to, including living without your husband, if you must, and forgiving him and your sister, if you must. The "solution" you mention is no solution. It's surrender.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a man who would give his secretary $100 for Christmas and then tell his wife that she shouldn't expect anything because she was "too old" to believe in Santa Claus?

DEAR WIFE: I would say that his marriage is all screwed up.

DEAR ABBY: Your advice to the wife of the junk collector that she call the Salvation Army to haul his stuff away proves that you have never lived with a pack-rat. And she wouldn't live long with one either if she followed your advice. He'd murder her!

A pack-rat without the security of his pack is like an addict deprived of his fix. He collects from a psychopathic fear of being without, which stems from a very poor childhood.

A wife must learn to accept this peculiarity in her pack-rat husband, and love him in spite of it. But she should set certain limits and say, "Store your stuff in the basement or garage; if you need more room, build yourself a shed, but NONE of that junk goes into the other part of the house." Sign this—FIFTY YEARS WITH A PACK-RAT.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SEEING A LAWYER" IN N.Y. F. You are paying for legal advice. Take it, and don't be a fool. You can shear a sheep many times, but you can take his hide only once.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send $1.00 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Seize Mental Patient, Had Assaulted Two

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A 21-year-old patient was captured early today about four hours after, police said, he escaped from Rochester State Hospital for the mentally ill by assaulting two nurses with a piece of pipe.

Monroe County Sheriff's deputies, using dogs, followed footprints in the snow and found Francis J. Sweeney Jr. of Rochester hiding in an apartment house cellar near the hospital.

Sweeney had been committed to the hospital for a psychiatric examination after his arrest on a charge of grand larceny.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Their average life span is 43 years, compared to more than 70 for America's over-all population. They have twice as much influenza and pneumonia in proportion, and seven times as much tuberculosis. They suffer widely from an infectious eye disease — trachoma — all but unknown to the average American.

At the same time, and by no mere coincidence, their unemployment rate verges on 50 percent; their average family income is at the poverty level of $1,500 a year; and 90 per cent of their housing is substandard. This is a true picture — not of some remote nation in an underdeveloped area, but of a group within the United States — the 380,000 Indians and Alaskan natives.

These facts, vaguely known but generally disregarded by most people, were re-emphasized at a conference of the Association of American Indian Affairs, held recently in New York. Dr. Howard A. Rusk, noted writer on medicine, summed up the conference's main conclusions in these words:

"... that increased preventive medical services and improved environmental conditions hold the key to improved health for American Indians and Alaskan natives."

It has already been shown that the situation can be improved by an increased investment of effort and funds where they will do the most good. Dr. Rusk pointed out that the condition of the Indians and Alaskan natives, deplorable as it is today, was much worse a dozen years ago before responsibility for Indian health was transferred to the U. S. Public Health Service.

An increased appropriation in 1966 helped combat the trachoma problem. But there is a vast need for further effort. While Indian health presents some special problems, experts in the field believe they can be overcome.

Your Christmas Seal Association, alert to the need for TB control and general health improvement everywhere, supports the efforts being made to raise the first Americans to a health level equal to the nation as a whole.

Thirst of Masses May Prove Unquenchable

Rice-Roots Democracy Could In Time Catch Up to Old Mao

By JOHN RODERICK
TOKYO (AP) — A decade ago he put his hand into the flame and was burned. Today Mao Tse-tung plays with even more dangerous fires: freedom of expression and rice-roots democracy for China's millions.

The flames — in time — may consume him. This aspect of Mao's fight against President Liu Shao-chi has passed nearly unnoticed, the tree obscured by a forest of confusion and sensation.

Saying What They Think
But for the first time since 1957 Chinese of wildly different political persuasions are saying what they think, attacking whom they like in posters pasted on the apparently endless walls of Peking.

There has never been such freedom of talk — and writing — since Mao decreed 10 years ago that everyone could speak his mind. He said, "Let a hundred flowers bloom." That honeymoon lasted a month before Mao decided the flowers had turned into poisonous weeds.

Now, struggling against odds, the Chinese Communist chairman, now 73, has gone a step farther and given the Chinese masses a taste of new democracy out of an old bottle — revolutionary committees on the model of the 1871 Paris Commune.

These committees will grow into city communes, if he has his way. Membership will be open to students, peasants, workers, soldiers, intellectuals or politicians who show revolutionary ardor for the thoughts of Mao Tse-tung.

Far Cry From Yesterday
All this is a far cry from the China of yesterday. For 17 years as a people's republic party, and for decades before as an outlawed political party, Chinese Communism's watchword was secrecy. No one ever played with the cards so close to his chest. Any criticisms were aired in secret party meetings. Today secrets of the party committee, of past life, are

Student Meeting Calls for End of Fighting in Viet

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—Despite a walkout by nine delegates, a National Student Conference on Vietnam at Cornell University has approved a resolution calling for an immediate cease-fire in Vietnam.

The conference resolved Sunday that it believed the United States has the major responsibility for terminating the war and that any plans are meaningless until the U.S. government makes the basic decision to end the war.

At the same time, 150 delegates representing colleges from across the United States agreed that the United States must recognize that the National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Viet Cong, is a largely independent force and that its inclusion is a necessary prerequisite to any negotiations.

At the close of the conference, which began Wednesday, the students turned down, however, a resolution urging that the present draft system be abolished and another system be instituted.

Chairman Mark Pelnick, a junior from Lynden, N.J., described the resolutions as a "fair representation of national student opinion." He called the conference an "unqualified success."

The nine students who stalked from the conference shortly after midnight charged that it had been rigged to favor those opposing U.S. participation in the war in Vietnam.

The students — four from St. Johns, three from Fordham, one from Rutgers and one from Massachusetts Institute of Technology — issued a statement that denounced the arrangement of the conference.

"We feel that to rejoin the conference at this time would give de facto recognition to the fact that this conference is in any representative of the views of the majority of students in the United States," they said.

"We have voted with our feet," they said in explanation of their walkout. Earlier Saturday, Milton I. Sacks, a Brandeis University professor, told the group that "only the United States has resources to maintain the independence of Asian states."

pouring from the big and small character posters and newspapers appearing on Peking's walls.

One day Mrs. Liu Shao-chi is called a slut; the next, Mrs. Mao is accused of being a "time bomb" ticking beside her illustrious husband. President Liu and party general secretary Teng Hsiao-ping have plotted to overthrow the government; Chou En-lai should be burned alive. Another day, a poster urges that those who say that should be killed.

It is bewildering, sometimes childish. But it apparently is unhindered and uncensored.

There are signs Mao is trying to bring all of this hurly burly under control; party organs have been placed under the blunt thumb of his No. 1 propagandist, Chen Po-la. But he himself boasts of the "extensive democracy" the wall papers represent, and he in fact encourages the exchanges.

Mao's venture into new forms of government is even more extreme.

Before the revolutionary committees were organized, elections in Red China were a state-ly, predetermined dance. The man to run for local, provincial or national legislatures. The choice: They could accept or reject him. No fools, they invariably accented.

Party in Shambles
Now the 17-million-member party — largest Communist party in the world — is in a shambles, many of its leaders disgraced, many of the provincial and municipal committees in revolt against Mao.

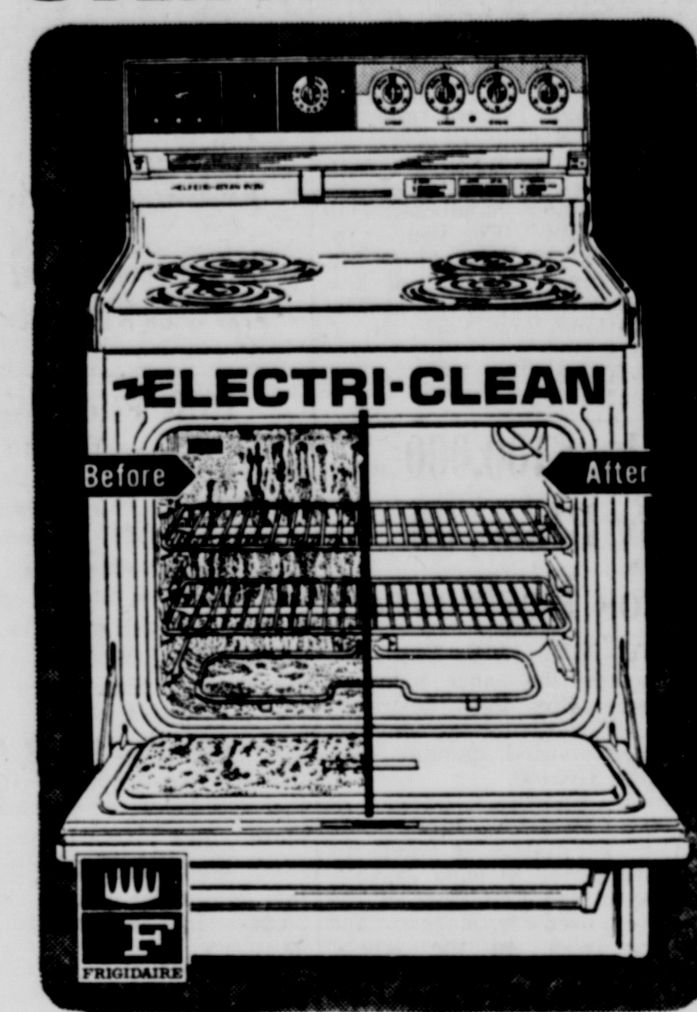

Party membership — or approval — no longer is the criterion for office. By the announced plan, elected committeemen may be recalled, impeached or replaced in general elections.

The unbridled criticisms of the wall posters and the free-wheeling democracy of the revolutionary committees may prove strong drink to Chinese fed these heady freedoms in medicine-dropper doses since 1949.

The danger to Mao is that once they have drunk, their thirst may be unquenchable. When he decides to take away the bottle, they may put up a fight.

Jack Becomes Important Card

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Last week we were worrying about queens. This week we will concern ourselves with missing jacks. The same general rules apply. If you miss six to the jack the general rule is to play for the drop in preference to the finesse but most of the time you will be more concerned with the number of tricks you need in the suit.

Playing at six-no-trump South is able to count eight tricks outside of the club suit. He is interested in the best play for four club tricks. He leads a club to dummy's ace and plays back the seven spot. The moment that East follows to that second club South is absolutely sure of four club tricks if he plays the ten spot. If West produces the jack there will be only two clubs left and the king and queen will pick them up. If West plays low South will make all five club tricks and if West shows out the ten spot play will have guarded against the chance that East started with five clubs to the jack.

Suppose that South has arrived at a grand slam contract. He shouldn't be there but everyone has seen much poorer grand slam contracts.

To bring in five club tricks South's best play is to try to drop the jack.

Barring some very unusual club - diamond combinations South needs to bring home five club tricks. He can't do it if the clubs break 5-1 or 6-0 or if West holds four clubs to the jack. If East holds jack - small or jack and two small, all plays succeed. If West holds jack - small or jack and two small the play to drop the jack succeeds and therefore is preferable to the second round finesse which gains only if East holds the jack and three others.

TV Commercials To Provide New Talent for Films

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The perennial problem in show business: Where to find new talent. Here's one answer: Television commercials.

The decline of such proving grounds as repertory, vaudeville, night clubs and B movies makes it ever more difficult for newcomers to train themselves and be discovered for the big time. Lately the much-maligned television commercial has produced a clutch of young, imaginative film directors in London and New York.

Cite Case of Barbara

Barbara Feldon is further evidence that something good can come out of commercials.

She is a Pittsburgh, Pa., girl who studied drama at Carnegie Tech, later graduated from the Copacabana line to perform in commercials. She became famous as the tiger girl with her sultry pitch for a men's hair cream. "See 'em, tiger," she murmured, and sales mounted. Her fame led to an offer to costar as Don Adams' loyal sidekick, Agent 99, in the NBC series, "Get Smart." That in turn led to a costarring role with Dick Van Dyke in a new film, "Garden of Cucumbers."

Only now is she earning as much as she did as the tiger girl.

Says she: "I made more money working three days a year for Revlon than I did working 30 weeks at 13 hours a day during the first season of 'Get Smart.'"

Collected $200

"Once I reported for a commercial in which they wanted to use only one of my eyes," she recalled. "All I had to do was close the eye and open it. I worked a half-hour and for a whole year I collected $200 a week as the commercial was played."

The big money in commercials, she observed, comes when a girl is signed to a contract as spokeswoman or symbol for a certain product. Only a few have been so fortunate, among them: Edie Adams, Betty Furness, Barbara Britton — and Barbara Feldon.

If the work was so lucrative, why did she turn to acting? "You have to be well-adjusted to handle a commercial contract," she said. "You work so little that you must find ways to occupy your time. I managed pretty well, but sometimes the inactivity became wearing. Besides, I felt that I needed to progress in my career. I couldn't be the tiger girl forever."

Woodstock Guild and Pupil Are Praised in Council Magazine

The current issue (November/December 1966) of Craft Horizons, the magazine published by American Craftsmen's Council and devoted to activities of craftsmen and crafts, carries a review written by Nell Znamierowski on the Seventh Annual Craft Exhibit of the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen.

In addition to citing the outstanding work by Guild-member artists, Miss Znamierowski called special attention to the work of Louise Todd. She wrote "Perhaps the most interesting work was done by Louise Todd—interesting because she is only 16 years-of-age and a craft student in the government-sponsored Talented Art Program (TAP). Yet her two pieces of jewelry certainly held their own and were clear evidence of a well-directed feeling toward the handling of stones and metal. This program, which recognizes the ability of youngsters and intelligently guides them, is a sure way of keeping alive the new crafts traditions in the U.S. More than that, in a place like Woodstock, it is a way of constantly renewing the vitality of the Guild."

Miss Todd participates in the Talented Art Program (TAP) and has been a student of Marie Frey, one of Woodstock's renowned jewelers.

TAP is an activity of the Mid-Hudson Regional Supplementary Educational Center BOCES of New Paltz, under the direction of Dr. Raymond G. Kenyon. M. Frank Wright is current program director. Operated under a Title III ESEA grant, the TAP program serves schools in five counties: Orange, Sullivan, Dutchess, Putnam and Ulster.

Kids, B-B Guns, Targets to Take Over Local Gym

Woodstock Jaycees, in their continuing effort to bring worthwhile programs to the youth of the community, announced final plans for their first annual Jaycee Shooting Education Program and Tournament, to be held in the new gym of the Woodstock Elementary School this Saturday, from 3 to 5 p. m.

The program is aimed at promoting safe gun handling practices, marksmanship and good sportsmanship among area boys and girls, ages seven to 14.

Co-sponsored by the Jaycees and the Daisy Manufacturing Company on a national level, the program has received featured presentations in The American Rifleman and Field and Stream magazines.

Locally, the program will concentrate on instruction in safe gun handling and marksmanship. Youngsters will shoot Jaycee B-B guns at 15 foot indoor targets. During the latter part of the day, scores will be recorded and prizes will be awarded to the winners.

Jaycee president John Spratt urges a large turnout of area youngsters and extends a special invitation to parents to enjoy an afternoon at this Woodstock Jaycee youth program.

The Woodstock Jaycees also invite all young men between the ages of 21 and 35 to join them at this month's meeting, to be held in the Rotron conference room, at Rotron Manufacturing Company, in Woodstock, at 8 p. m. this Wednesday.

Card Party in Zena

For a winter's evening of fun, local residents are extended a cordial invitation to attend a card party at the Zena Firehouse this Saturday at 7:30 p. m. The event is being sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary of Woodstock Fire Company No. 4 and awards and refreshments will be included in the evening's entertainment, according to Katherine Iatridis, Auxiliary secretary.

"SHALL WE DANCE?" asked the five fetching young ladies, all sixth grade students at Woodstock Elementary School, and more than 50 pupils of both the fifth and sixth grades responded in the affirmative. School dance, with a St. Valentine's motif, was held Friday night in the local cafeteria and was, by all reports, a rollicking success featuring fun galore and—you guessed it—music and more music by The Monkees, The Rolling Stones and Herman's Hermits on record. Committee in charge of planning the affair, from posters to ticket sales to decorations and refreshments included (l-r) Tara Lee Roberts, Janet Eichhorn, Carol Geertsema, Lesley Geertsema and Lisa Mashayekhi. Same group supplied the same services for an earlier and similar dance held back around Thanksgiving time. (Freeman photo by Wagenföhr)

BOOKS FOR VIETNAM—A few weeks back, Jim Young, of the Juggler Book Shop, on Woodstock's Tinker Street, sent out a request for donations of books to be forwarded to area servicemen currently serving in Vietnam. The response from the local citizenry was overwhelming and, as a result, the back room of the Juggler is piled to overflowing with tomes of fiction, non-fiction and poetry. Young is pictured above, packing some of the books collected in cartons for shipping overseas. Undeterred by the virtual flood of reading material which has inundated his shop, Young says he's still in the business of supplying literature to men on the battlefield, who have written to him that there is a dearth of library facilities there. Anyone who would like to donate to this cause may do so by simply bringing books to the Juggler during store hours. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Scouts Planning International Day

Woodstock-West Hurley Girl Scout Neighborhood Association met this week to complete arrangements for its Thinking Day Program. All troops in the neighborhood will gather at the West Hurley Firehouse on Saturday, Feb. 25, at 9:45 a. m. for a program of songs, skits and dances with an international theme. Each troop will be making a contribution to the Juliette Low, World Friendship Fund named for the founder of Girl Scouting in the United States. This fund is used to provide opportunities for visits in foreign countries and to help in the establishment of troops in other lands. Mrs. Robert Jennings is in charge of this program.

Mrs. Arnold Reynolds of Bearsville, has been named chairman for the Girl Scout Cookie Sale which starts on Saturday, March 4.

Note Short Honeymoon

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Newlywed James Davis, 37, was shot at his wedding reception Sunday.

Police said reception guests told them the bride, Effie, 29, did the shooting after an argument interrupted the couple's brief period of marital bliss.

Miss Chinatown Frisco Teenager

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Marilyn Lew, high school senior, will reign as Miss Chinatown USA during the Chinese New Year festivities in San Francisco.

The prankish, attractive 17-year-old from San Francisco received the Miss Chinatown honor later Saturday night. Her beauty, 36-25-36 figure and her act won the judges' favor.

She pretended to have four fleas which were lost among the folds of her cheongsam, one of those sexy Chinese dresses with the slits up the sides. Her imaginary itch produced the action.

"I started to do a strip," she says. "But I didn't really take off anything but a scarf. Then I sort of waved it around."

Marilyn weighs 122 pounds.

stands 5-foot-6 and attends Washington High School. She is the daughter of Helen Lew Chen. After high school she wants to go to an Francisco State College and then to the University of Hawaii. She'd eventually like to become an airline stewardess.

The 18 beautiful girls of Chinese ancestry came from as far as New York and Honolulu to compete. For the first time the pageant included a swimsuit contest and the 2,300 persons in the audience seemed to approve.

Runner-up was Cynthia Fong, 21, of San Francisco, named Miss Chinatown, San Francisco. According to the Chinese calendar, the year of the Ram, 4665, started Feb. 9. The new year festivities continue here until Feb. 25 when the traditional New Year's parade snakes its way through downtown San Francisco and into Chinatown.

New York Council Of ANG Supports Overseas Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Empire State District Council of the American Newspaper Guild endorses the guild's international affairs program and the use of foundation funds to support it.

The council issued a statement to that effect Sunday following a denial Saturday by the union that it had knowingly accepted $1,004,000 in grants from foundations used as fronts for the Central Intelligence Agency.

The district council, composed of delegates from guild chapters with more than 8,000 members in New York State and New Jersey, said it supported "These activities have been thoroughly reported to its members and the public by the guild and are in complete accordance with the purposes of the guild as embodied in its constitution," the statement added.

"Further, the council endorses the use of foundation funds to support these programs as long as the guild continues to accredit such grants with its traditional and historic understanding and insistence that there be no interference by such outside groups with the guild's programs."

Girl Scout Week will be celebrated from March 11 to March 18.

Everybody Loser In NBC's First TV Experiment

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Everybody was, in truth, a loser Sunday at the end of "Losers Weepers," first offering in NBC's experiment in television, which will consist of a series of nine assorted offerings.

A hate-filled, rejected little boy and his younger sister were

Longhaired Problem

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Police searched for four youths, all about 17, who knocked Joseph Scott Fuller, 19, to the sidewalk and reportedly tried to cut his shoulder-length hair.

"One was armed with scissors, about 10 inches long, and they were going to cut his hair," said Roy Walters, a policeman.

carted off to be cared for by city authorities. Their father, just out of prison, was back in handcuffs, suspected of the death of his mother-in-law who, in a frenzy of hatred and fear, had succumbed to a heart condition.

The hour-long play was written by Harry Dolan, who lived in and came out of the Watts area of Los Angeles and appeared at the end of the show to explain that "I've tried to explain for white people how it is in the ghetto — how hard it is to survive in the ghetto."

The program was actually filmed in and around a crumbling shack in Watts and attempted to show the terrible effects of that struggle to survive. A Negro woman of an older generation was angry because her son-in-law was unable to accept, as her husband had been, any job however menial. Her daughter, working in spite of a mortal illness, loved her family but needed the money. Her husband, a big, strapping fellow, grew constantly more resentful and restless as he tended the children because there was no decent work for a man. Ultimately he exploded in furious protest and committed an armed robbery.

Dolan obviously had something very personal to say. But he said it with such emphasis that it sometimes seemed like exaggeration, thus losing some of its effectiveness. But it was an hour we will remember.

Also in the hard-hitting category was the third of NBC's documentaries called "The Battle for Asia." This was an hour-long examination of the current troubles in Indonesia after what "called." "The single biggest defeat ever handed the Communists anywhere in the world."

Yates' love of drama led him to linger overlong on his descriptions of the "calculated terror and bestiality" of the Communists' plan for the coup that, happily, failed.

ABC's "Scorpio Letters," one of those two-hour features made for television, was standard. B-grade programs featuring an American sleuth chasing an international blackmailer. It would have made a good, tight one-hour program, and the padding that carried it another 60 minutes was very visible. Alex Cord, the hero, proved to be an attractive new-to-TV face.

He also named them honorary recruiters for "outstanding service rendered to the Marine Corps Recruiting Service and with public spirited service in keeping with the finest traditions of American patriotism and loyalty." The presentation took place at Michael's Barber Shop, 217 Main Street, Saugerties. (Freeman photo by Kruh.)

Asthma Formula Prescribed Most By Doctors—Available Now Without Prescription

Stops Attacks in Minutes... Relief Lasts for Hours!

New York, N.Y. (Special)—The asthma formula prescribed more than any other by doctors for their private patients is now available to asthma sufferers without prescription. Medical tests proved this formula stops asthma attacks in minutes and gives hours of freedom from recurrence of painful asthma spasms. This formula is so effective that it is the physicians' leading asthma prescription—so safe when used as directed that now it can be sold without prescription in most states.

Levitt Backs Escalator Bill For N.Y. Teachers

ALBANY, — State Comptroller Arthur Levitt today urged passage by the Legislature of a cost-of-living retirement benefit escalator bill for New York State teachers.

Describing retired teachers as "conspicuous victims of inflation," Mr. Levitt noted that the supplementary proposal was sponsored by the New York State Teachers' Retirement System.

The cost-of-living concept to supplement inflation-eroded retirement benefits was first introduced by the Comptroller for members of the New York State Employees' Retirement System. It was passed last year by the Legislature but vetoed by the Governor. A similar proposal introduced by the Comptroller at this Session of the Legislature was passed by the Assembly last week and is now before the State Senate.

Both bills, the Teachers' and for the State Employees' Retirement System, would provide automatic adjustment in retirement benefits based upon changes in the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics' Cost-of-Living Index. Adjustments would be calculated annually from the year a member retired. Supplemental payment benefits would be proportionately increased following any year in which the cost-of-living index rose three per cent or more.

"Retired teachers, living on a fixed income retirement benefit bar the brunt of continued cost-of-living increases as do our retired state employees," Mr. Levitt said. "It would be only simple justice that teachers receive the same basic and necessary legislation that will set them free from some of the financial hardships that retirement brings. It is more than justice, it is sound economic sense. For if we allow inflation to strip away the buying power of our elderly in retirement, the burden of meeting their necessities must ultimately fall upon the State in some form of welfare payment."

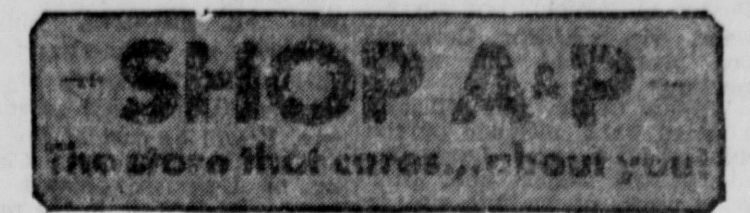

"Our teaching force deserves the right to a retirement benefit which will meet the costs of their daily requirements after a lifetime of service to the community. Unfortunately, many are among that segment of American society which has been excluded from this era of affluence."

Cowley Inducted In Rotary Club

Off to a school administrator's convention in Atlantic City went local Rotary Club president, Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, and, in his place, vice-president Cornelius Cox presided at this week's meeting.

William Cowley was officially inducted as a member of the club by his sponsor Larry Cahill, at the session and, after many weeks of waiting, awards for the recent attendance contest arrived. Ironically, the first place winners who were to be honored for 100 per cent attendance were absent. Gerald Snyder, second place winner, was presented with a container of exotic cologne. Another attendance contest is scheduled in the near future.

A guest at the meeting was Walter VanWagenen, of Woodstock Rotary, and members were kept busy in the handshaking department as congratulations went to Gerald Snyder and the Rev. Orville Hine on their birthdays. Cornelius Cox on the birth of a new daughter and Terry Staples for becoming a father-in-law last week.

Members were advised that Rotary dues are past due and that Dr. Grant Morse was a roving Rotarian in a visit to the Cortland Rotary Club this month. Also, that World Understanding Week will be observed by Rotary Clubs throughout the world from March 12 to March 18. Global membership in Rotary now totals 601,750 with 145 new clubs organized in 34 countries during 1966-67.

Party Caucus Tonight

Members of the Village Party of Saugerties will hold a caucus tonight at 7 o'clock in the Dutch Arms Chapel on John Street.

Voters are advised that the terms of four local political office holders will expire this year and, at the caucus, candidates will be nominated to fill these posts—those of a mayor and three trustees. Other pertinent information includes the fact that registration day for the village has been scheduled for March 4 and the village elections will be held March 21.

Sickler Wins Regents

The name of Clyde J. Sickler was inadvertently omitted from Scholarship winners recently announced by the Saugerties Central Schools.

Clyde, presently a senior at Saugerties High School, recently transferred to Saugerties from the Wappingers Falls school system.

Congratulations have been extended to Clyde, his parents, and all other Scholarship winners and their parents by the Saugerties Central Schools.

Braun Will Speak On Training of Workers Tuesday

A program of interest to industries in the Saugerties area and one to which representatives from all industries whether members of Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce or not, are invited, has been scheduled here. It will be part of the regular meeting of the local Chamber of Commerce slated this Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the meeting room of Saugerties Savings Bank.

Speaker of the evening will be Robert Braun, of the Board of Cooperative Educational Services, who will talk on the organization's efforts to educate and train skilled workers for industry in schools of the area.

The Chamber has already announced in advance that, at its March meeting, representatives will be present from the Ulster County Planning Board.

Alfred M. MacMullen, Chamber secretary, said the local group plans to cooperate in projects with both BOCES and the Planning Board this year. He also notes that 1967 dues are now payable and members should send covering checks as soon as possible.

Name Dutches Lawyer to Post With Lefkowitz

William J. O'Hare, an assistant Dutchess county district attorney has been appointed by State Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz, as an assistant attorney general, effective March 1. O'Hare will have responsibility for cases in the State Court of Claims at Poughkeepsie.

O'Hare, who resides with his wife and five children on Route 82, LaGrangeville, submitted his resignation as assistant district attorney to District Attorney John Heilman, Jr. O'Hare's primary assignment in the district attorney's office has been to prosecute cases in justices of the peace courts in eight towns, in addition to handling matters in County Court and before grand juries.

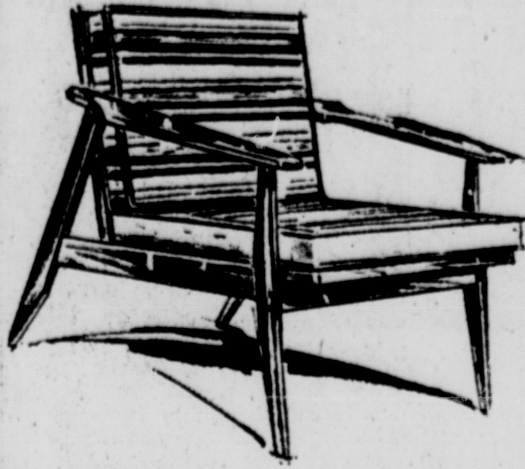

O'Hare, who previously had been associated with the law firm of Paul and Edward Rosen in Poughkeepsie, is a graduate of Archbishop Stepinac High School, White Plains; Fordham College and St. John's Law School. He was admitted to practice law in 1964.

Commenting on O'Hare's appointment to the state post, Heilman said, "The fact that he was selected for the position evidences how well and quickly he has adapted to the experience and training in the district attorney's office."

Mercury Hospital in the Steuben County community of Hornell Sunday to train 14 persons in cooking. The department also awarded a $14,155 contract to the Pacer Machine Co. in the Ontario County community of Shortsville to train 15.

hints from
Heloise

Dear Folks:

Many of us are on diets and cannot eat the yellows of eggs: Yet how very hungry we get for that good breakfast with some scrambled eggs.

I know how you feel. I was on a diet too and after four months of no scrambled or fried eggs and a longing for some, I finally figured out the answer. Don't laugh when you read how!

Try it! After you crack your raw eggs, separate the whites from the yellows. Put the amount of egg whites you want to use in a cup.

For each egg white you have in the cup put two drops of yellow food coloring.

Stir the droplets of coloring among the egg whites with a fork. Do not beat them or put them in a blender unless you want solid color scrambled eggs.

The point of stirring them with a fork is . . . you will end up with part yellow and part white in your scrambled eggs and they will not look like the powdered egg we had during World War II.

As you stir the cup of egg whites with the fork, you will find there will be a thick part that the yellow will not mix with.

Fine. This part will end up as the egg white when it is scrambled. The part that mixes with the coloring will turn out yellow.

Pour it into your skillet and scramble away.

I did find that you need lots of salt and pepper on this. Also, you could top it with hamburger relish and it was out of this world, no matter what time of the day you ate it.

Also, if you put it in a blender and added some baking powder, it would turn out all the same color, but it would be fluffier like an omelet. If you like eggs all the same color, you may like this method.

But it leads you to believe that you are finally eating a scrambled egg with a yolk.

What price psychology?

Bless you.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Often in the daytime, visibility is poor and it is necessary to drive with the lights on.

Here is a reminder I use to be sure they are turned off when I park.

I have a magnetic clip on my dashboard. Whenever I turn my lights on during daylight, I move the clip right next to the ignition switch.

Then when I turn the engine off I am reminded of the lights and turn them off, too.

This system has never failed me.

R. E. Fues

Dear Heloise:

Here's a wonderful way to restore crispness to limp curtains:

Launder according to instructions, dry, press and hang back on rods.

Pin newspapers or a sheet of plastic behind them to protect the windows and spray with spray starch.

They will look like new when dry.

Mrs. Mary Bundy

Dear Heloise:

While crocheting the other day, I couldn't find my scissors. I found a pair of finger nail clippers and used them to cut my thread.

Later I put them on a chain and I now wear it around my neck while crocheting. The clippers are small and really handy.

Evelyn Hileman

Dear Heloise:

I would like to know if you have any suggestions on how to clean non-washable stuffed toys.

I wash the foam-filled ones with soap and water, but don't know what to do about the non-washables. Any ideas? Sure would appreciate it.

A Reader

At my age, it has been a long time since I cleaned stuffed toys. How about some of you more experienced mothers writing me in care of this paper and tell how you do it.

We'd love to hear from you.

Why We Say--

BALLYHOO

NOISY IRISH: Our word "ballyhoo" comes from an Irish town, Ballyhoo, in the county of Cork. The word was first used by English people, who maintained that Ballyhoo had a good many law-breakers among its citizens. Since they made so much noise, they called attention to themselves. We use the word now to mean "a big noise" that accompanies something.

Instant Easter Eggs From Up-State Farm

NORTH TONAWANDA, N. Y. (AP)—Hens may be commonplace fowl to some, but to Perry Smith his chickens are colorful or at least their eggs are. Smith owns six hens that lay green, blue and pinkish-brown eggs. "There's nothing strange about it," he maintains. This type of chickens originated in South America and were raised by the Aracauna Indians, Smith said. Hence, they are called Aracauna chickens. The North Tonawanda resident works at Durez Plastics, a division of Hooker Chemical Corp. here and raises the chickens as a hobby. The Aracauna egg has an appearance similar to a regular egg that has been dyed on the outside. The difference in the two types is on the inside, where the interior of the shell is the same color as the exterior. There is no difference between the flavor of a colored and an ordinary egg. Smith said. Blue and green eggs are laid by any color Aracauna chicken, he commented. Smith said he has never seen a multi-colored egg, adding "the colors don't cross and I can't tell you why." He said he did have a friend years ago that had chickens that laid yellow, olive and bright red eggs.

National Debt Hits All-Time High; Will Top $330 Billion

By JOSEPH R. COYNE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Treasury Department borrows $2.3 billion today.

That won't finance any new "Great Society" programs. And it probably will get little, if any, attention outside the financial world.

But the borrowing will represent a vital cog in the mechanics used by the Treasury to manage a luxury as old as the nation itself—the national debt.

The Treasury will use the $2.3 billion to repay another $2.3 billion it borrowed under similar circumstances last year. And it goes through a similar task every Monday.

As of last Friday, the national debt totaled $329.2 billion. Officials expect it to rise above $330 billion within the next three weeks if the government pays its bills on time. It will drop later during the heavy spring tax collection months.

The Treasury will have to borrow more money to meet these bills and this represents increased debt.

That's why the department asked Congress to increase the debt ceiling from $330 billion—the limit fixed last June—to $336 billion. The House already has voted the increase and the Senate now is considering it. Congress is expected to go along with the higher ceiling. It always has increased the limit although not always by as much as the Treasury wanted.

Like individual Americans, the federal government goes deeper into debt when it spends more than its income—tax receipts in the government's case.

This luxury will cost the taxpayers about $14.2 billion in interest charges during the next fiscal year.

The $2.3 billion to be borrowed will probably carry an interest rate of 4.5 per cent or slightly higher. From its first years, the nation was in debt—$75.46 million in 1791. This grew to $127.3 million in 1816 but dropped to $38,000, the lowest ever, in 1835 and 1836.

By 1918, with World War I spending at its peak, the debt climbed past $10 billion for the first time, reaching $12.45 billion by June 30 of that year.

The huge deficits of World War II pushed the debt to $269.4 billion by mid-1946. By June 30, 1968, it's expected to reach $335.4 billion. The debt has increased yearly since 1957.

But old debt never stands still. And it's up to the Treasury to make sure money borrowed in the past is repaid when due.

The department borrows money by issuing its own securities. Those $25 U.S. savings bonds bought for $18.75 represent a share of the national debt. The bond itself is a receipt for the $18.75 an individual loaned to the government. The balance of the $25 is interest if the bond is held to maturity.

Americans now hold savings bonds worth more than $50 billion.

In addition to individuals, commercial banks, mutual savings banks, savings and loan associations, insurance companies, corporations, state and local governments, pension funds and even foreign and international agencies have loaned money to the government.

The Treasury also has borrowed from the Federal Reserve banks and government investment accounts such as the Social Security and unemployment compensation trust funds.

In return for this money, the Treasury issues its own securities as receipts. These mature on a variety of dates as far ahead as November, 1998. The $2.3 billion now borrowed weekly is split into two maturities—$1.3 billion matures in three months and $1 billion in six months.

When the Treasury borrows money to pay off securities which have matured, there's no increase in the national debt.

What adds to the debt is new money which is borrowed, not to pay off securities, but to pay for government work beyond what can be financed from tax collections.

Kodak Faces Trouble From Rights Groups

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Officials of the Eastman Kodak Co. face "a long, rough road ahead of them" in their dispute with a Rochester civil-rights organization over hiring practices, an organizer of minority groups says.

Saul Alinsky, executive director of the Chicago-based Industrial Areas Foundation, gave that prediction Sunday night during a forum at Temple Beth Zion here.

Kodak and FIGHT, a militant group founded during Alinsky's organizing efforts in Rochester, have engaged in a running feud since the photographic firm rejected what FIGHT said was a mutual agreement to hire and train 600 unemployed Negroes recruited by the group.

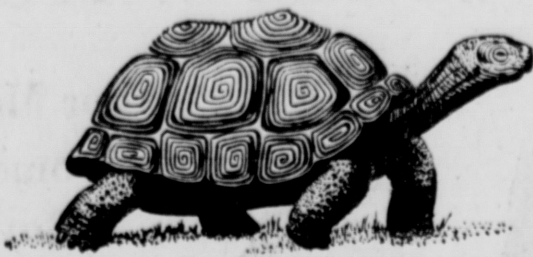

Referring to Kodak officials, Alinsky said:

"We are going to fight out in the streets with them—rough, tough stuff—rather than in the country clubs."

Last Nov. 1, Alinsky's group began an organizing drive among Buffalo's Negroes. Most of the $150,000 in private donations to finance the effort has come from church groups.

The drive here is centered in an organization called BUILD—an acronym for Build Unity, Independence, Liberty, Dignity.

In Cancer Campaign

TV Star Named Honorary Head Of Drive Phase

NEW YORK — Lorne Greene, one of television's most famous stars, has been named Honorary Education Chairman of the 1967 American Cancer Society Crusade, Travis T. Wallace, ACS Board Chairman announced here today.

The year 1967 will mark one of the biggest all-embracing educational efforts the Society has ever embarked on. It has set as its target the placing of some 45 million stickers imprinted with Cancer's Warning Signals in American homes.

Explains Functions

It is hoped that people will learn the warning signals and heed them, Wallace said. The stickers can be pasted in medicine chest and cabinets in plain view of every member of the family.

Greene, whose starring role as Ben Cartwright in "Bonanza," has made him one of the best-known figures on the American entertainment scene today, will appear on television and radio and other communications media to lend his support to the more than two million Society volunteers who will be distributing the warning signals stickers.

They are:
 1. Unusual bleeding or discharge.
 2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere.
 3. A sore that does not heal.
 4. Change in bowel or bladder habits.
 5. Hoarseness or cough.
 6. Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
 7. Change in a wart or mole.

See Your Doctor

(If your signal lasts longer than two weeks go to your doctor to learn if it means cancer.)

Lorne Greene was born in Ottawa, Canada. As a child he aspired to become a concert violinist. In college he was intent on a career in chemical engineering — until someone asked him to appear in a school play. He became Canada's most important radio newscaster and practically a household name in the early 1940's. He changed his career on a business trip to New York, when producer Fletcher Markle offered him the lead in a "studio One" TV drama.

Following this role, Lorne's career developed rapidly, first in Broadway plays, opposite such luminaries as Katherine Cornell and Jose Ferrer. Then he went to Hollywood where he played in such films as "The Silver Chalice," "Tight Spot," "Peyton Place," and "The Buccaneers."

In 1959, NBC signed Lorne for the starring role of Ben Cartwright in "Bonanza."

Since then Greene's career has taken on many facets. He has recorded a number of hit albums, and his single recording,

"Ringo," was a multi-million record seller all over the world. He is married to the former actress, Nancy Deale, and is the father of college age twins — Linda, recently married, and Chuck, who is studying at MIT.

Panel to Discuss Young Diabetics At City Meeting

Doctors William E. Askue, Norman H. Burg and Mark Vandenberg will take part in a panel discussion on difference of emotional problems in juvenile diabetics and others the same age at a meeting of the Ulster Chapter, New York Diabetes Association at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday. It will be held in the Benedictine School of Nursing Auditorium.

Ex-GOP Leader Dies

FAYETTEVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—Albert Gordon, 58, who retired as chairman of the Onondaga County Republican Committee Thursday died Sunday after a long illness. He was 58. Gordon, a prominent local businessman, was chosen to head the county GOP in January of 1966. He leaves his widow, a son and a daughter.

A question and answer period will follow the discussion. All residents are invited.

Aided 1,313

Chapter officials said a recent issue of the Diabetes Newsletter noted 1,313 persons availed themselves of detection services during a recent drive. Detection centers were at Kingston and Benedictine Hospitals, New Paltz Medical Center, Rotron Manufacturing Company and Ferroxcube Corporation.

Of this total, 41 showed positive results and another 125 were found suspected diabetics from histories given.

Dr. Burg, appointed the local association's physician - advisor last October, was recommended by the Ulster County Medical Society to succeed the late Dr. Curtis Bight. A New York native, he graduated from the New York University of Arts and Science and the University of Basel, in Switzerland. He has been practicing in Woodstock since 1962 and is currently dispensary physician in the out-patient department of the Albany Medical Center.

Native of Holland

Dr. Vadenburg, also of Woodstock, is a native of Holland. He has been resident senior psychiatrist at Middletown State Hospital for the past 10 months and prior to his arrival here he engaged in private practice abroad. He received his MD from Leiden University, Holland, in 1951.

Dr. Askue, local pediatrician for the past 10 years, interned at Roosevelt Hospital after receiving his MD from Columbia University. For the past 13 years he has taught at Albany Medical Center where he is currently an assistant professor.

Both Dr. Askue and Dr. Burg served with U. S. Forces during World War II. Dr. Askue as Captain in the Medical Corps and Dr. Burg with the U. S. Air Force as a captain.

ELECTS OFFICERS—Certificates were presented and directors were reelected at the 71st annual meeting of The Colonial Cooperative Insurance Company, 68 Main Street, Kingston. Attending the meeting at Kirkland Hotel were (l-r) Kenneth D. Pangburn, secretary; Ross K. Osterhoudt, president, and Howard J. Stauble, treasurer. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Review Changes In Colonial Firm

Changes that have taken place since The Colonial Cooperative Insurance Company began to reorganize in 1962, were reviewed by the company's management at the firm's 71st annual meeting at the home office, 68 Main Street, this city.

It was noted at the recent meeting that the company, formerly known as The Olive Cooperative Fire Insurance Association changed its name to its present form in 1964. Many internal changes have taken place with the net result in 1966 providing one of the finest years in the company's history.

Assets, surplus and premium writings reached an all time high and the underwriting profit for 1966 was one of the best in the last 20 years.

At the annual luncheon meeting held in the Senate Room of the Kirkland Hotel, certificates were presented by Howard J. Stauble, treasurer, to the employees who have completed the National Underwriting Training Course.

Kenneth P. Pangburn, secretary, presented the first Howard S. Pangburn Memorial Award to Ross K. Osterhoudt, president, in recognition of his "selfless devotion and dedication" to The Colonial Cooperative Insurance Company.

The firm was organized in 1896 and is the only insurance company organized in Ulster County that is still in business.

Directors reelected for another term were: Aubrey L. Berry, West Hurley; William H. Merrill, Kingston; Grover C. Winchell, Olive Bridge, and Howard J. Stauble, Hurley.

TODAY IN HISTORY

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Feb. 20, the 51st day of 1967. There are 314 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1809, the first Supreme Court decision, establishing the power of the United States as greater than that of an individual state, was written by Chief Justice John Marshall.

On this date: In 1900, the Panama-Pacific International Exposition opened in San Francisco.

In 1920, the American explorer, Rear Adm. Robert Edwin Peary, died.

In 1938, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden resigned from the Cabinet of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain.

In 1944, American bombers attacked the city of Leipzig in a daring, daylight operation.

In 1945, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced the recapture of Ft. McKinley in the city of Manila from the Japanese.

Ten years ago—The High Court of Justice in London invalidated a cause in the will of the late George Bernard Shaw which would have provided that a part of his estate be devoted to the development of a 40-letter alphabet.

Five years ago—Col. John H. Glenn became the first American to orbit the earth in a spacecraft. The Marine officer stayed aloft for 4 hours and 55 minutes.

One year ago—Communist China accused Secretary of State Dean Rusk of threatening "a big war." Peking vowed that Red China was prepared to take up the challenge. The Chinese apparently were referring to remarks Rusk made in Washington two days earlier when he said Vietnam could erupt into a large-scale war if "only one side worries about escalation."

Naval Civil Engineer Corps Seeks Officers

Machinist Mate Chief Emil J. Slivka, of the Navy Recruiting Service, Kingston, announced today the establishment of a new direct appointment program for recruitment of Civil Engineer Corps officers for active duty.

Increasing requirements coupled with a continuing shortage of experienced middle grade Civil Engineer Corps officers on active duty has made it necessary to provide a means for direct input of experienced personnel at the lieutenant and lieutenant commander grade level.

Applicants for appointment must be a graduate of an accredited college or university with a degree in civil, mechanical, mining, petroleum or architectural engineering, or in architecture. For more information on this program and other programs that would be of interest to college graduates, the Navy urges all eligible men to contact their Navy Recruiting Office located at the Central Post Office Building, Room Two.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By Sophie Miller

An Erie Canal new five cent stamp will be out July 4, from Rome, N. Y. according to early reports, but one must always check with the local post office to make sure. The Kingston City Library has a book on the Erie Canal by Lionel D. Wyld, called "Low Bridge" and Folklore. It came out March 1962, and Mr. Wyld the author writes in the preface that his wife helped him by typing the manuscript.

"Clinton's Ditch" as the Erie Canal was first called was completed in 1825, and runs from Buffalo to Albany. George Washington, a surveyor in his youth, toured the State of New York area in 1783, suggesting the possibilities for developing an east-west water traffic there, and thus, the first true canal survey was taken, by Christopher Colles, an Irish engineer.

The Low Bridge! was a term one canaller would yell to another, so they could duck the many low bridges. In years to come when some of the canalliers had grown rich and gone into society, writes Mr. Wyld, and wanted to forget their previous occupation, someone would yell Low Bridge and from force of habit the former canalliers would duck, so give themselves away.

It seems when the Erie Canal was laid out, the State of New York had to cut through farm lands and they promised to provide bridges for the farmers to take their cattle over and also for pedestrian traffic. The state did not make the bridges high enough and so forever the canalliers had this problem of having to duck these low bridges. Besides barges and tankers, sleek crafts called packets began to run with passenger service on the new canal. New words like towpath, and locktender appeared in the language also.

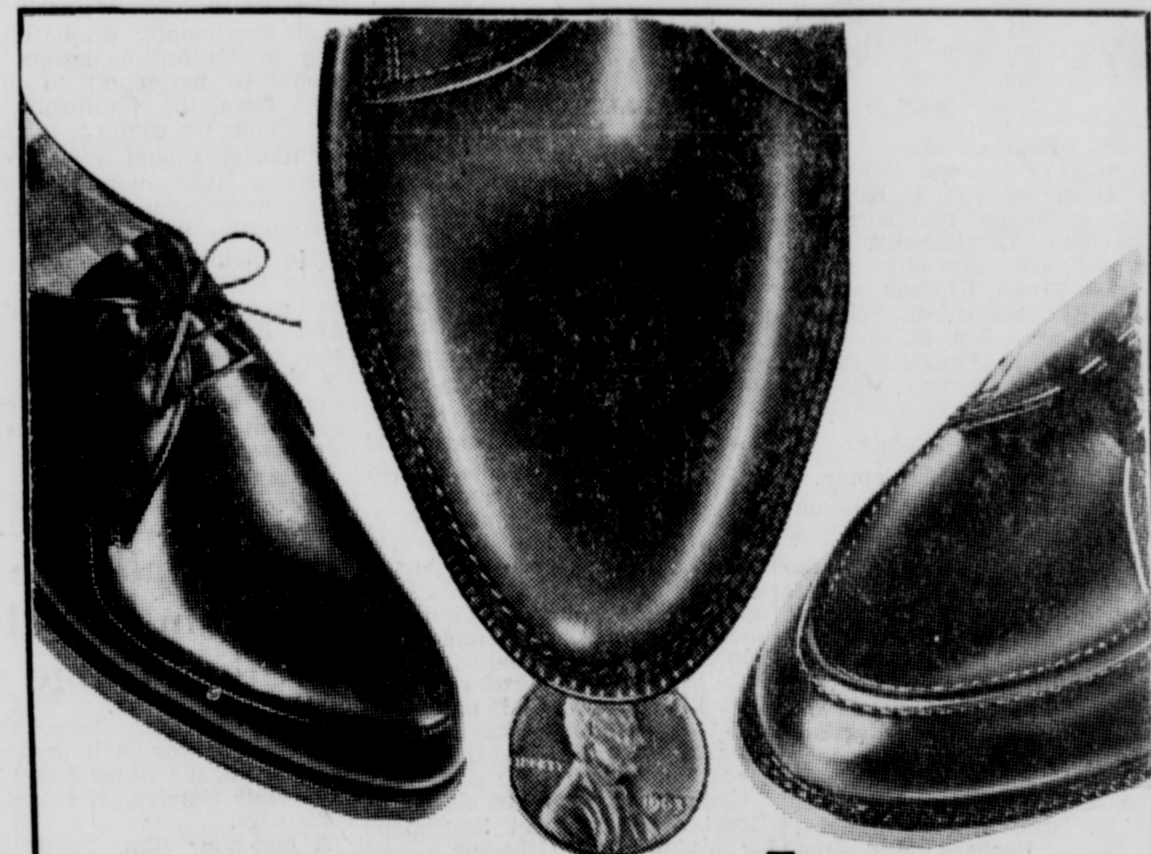

Europeans who came to this country would often take a trip on the now new Erie Canal, the author wrote. Even after sooty railroads came into being, they preferred the packet boat. The post coach which shook over the poor roads was not the best travel either at the time. Nathaniel Hawthorne wrote about the Grand Canal, as the Erie was called also. He writes in great detail about a trip with some 20 people on board, and with very narrow sleeping accommodations with only a curtain separating the various bedchambers. He finally told of trying to turn over in his very narrow berth and with a thud fell on the floor thus upsetting and waking up everybody, although he did not hurt himself.

Songs and poems were written about the Erie Canal, which told much about the life in those days. They had much to say about the cook. They mention Black Rock pork, which shipped in a barrel for the canalliers to eat. One poem reads in part: "They fried a chunk for breakfast. And a chunk for luncheon, too . . . And it was hard to chew . . ." and he describes this rock pork, they ate, "From Buffalo to old New York." They also speak of leaks in the packets, and how they stuffed the hole with undershirts.

One poem speaks fondly of a mule called Sal, which the canaller had for 15 years . . . It reads thus: "She's the only fighting donkey on the Erie Canal . . . I don't have to call when I want my Sal, I eat my meals with Sal each day . . . I eat beef and she eats a bale of hay for dinner . . . tries to drink up all the water in the Erie Canal."

In folklore he writes about big bass and carp fish which got drunk from hard cider which overflowed from a barge, and how they staggered up and down the canal and fought boats in the neighborhood, that the cats were afraid to go near the canal.

Dawe-Connelly Nuptials Are Announced

MRS. JAMES G. CONNELLY

Miss Regina Marie Dawe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Dawe of RD 5, Kingston, N. Y., exchanged marriage vows with James G. Connelly, son of Mrs. James Connelly of 89 Stephan Street, Kingston, and the late Mr. Connelly, on February 11, 1967 at a 2 p. m. ceremony in St. Mary's Church, Kingston. Officiating clergyman was the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, assistant pastor.

Theodore Riccobono was organist. Baskets of white flowers decorated the altar for the occasion.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length gown of white antique satin with matching redingote. The gown was cathedral length and a queen's crown of seed pearls held her silk illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Fay Brown of RD 5, Kingston, was maid of honor in a full length gown of deep purple antique satin. A flowered cap held her short flirtation veil and she carried carnations and pompons. Other attendants, Miss Paul Brown of Sleightsburgh and Mrs. Linda Coons of Poughkeepsie, wore similar gowns but in emerald and Nile green. They carried carnations and pompons.

Glenn Connelly of 89 Stephan Street, Kingston, was best man for his brother. Ushering were Keith Hamilton of Sandy Road and George Long of Colonial Gardens, Kingston.

A reception for 110 guests was given at Elmer's Inn in Ruby after the church ceremony.

The bride was graduated from Kingston High School and is employed at Barclay Knitwear in Port Jervis.

Mr. Connelly, an alumnus of Kingston High School, served four years with the U. S. Air Force and is employed by the New York State Department of Public Works.

Werle Dresses 'That Girl'

By HELEN HENNESSY
Women's Editor

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA) — California designer Dan Werle is living proof that designers, whatever their personal preferences, can keep on top of the times.

He thinks the Carnaby look is "cute" and has let its influence creep into the spring line from which Mario Thomas, star of TV's That Girl series, chose many numbers. He also designed her wardrobe for the show.

Yet Werle, who is certainly too young to have been part of Irene Castle's world, loved the pretty, feminine, soft look that was part of her success. He thinks covered-up things are "really sexy."

Werle designed the clothes for the Loretta Young show—those beautiful, swirling skirts that made her entrance on stage so dramatic. He talks of the fitted waistline and full skirt as something that should never have gone down fashion's drain. But he's right with it today.

He thinks New York designers are more influenced by Paris than the California people.

"In New York, they blatantly copy Paris," he said. "I go to the collections because a designer must always know what's going on. But I don't copy."

Werle believes that although New Yorkers may take a dim view of the use of garish color and occasionally dramatic styling in California designs they would be better off to take a leaf from the California book. He thinks we conform too much.

"Women should take a chance—be a little more daring in their dress. Not theatrical, just imaginative instead of sheep."

He divulged a couple of secrets, too. Lana Turner is a 12 on top and a 10 around the hips. And Barbara Stanwyck is a lady endowed with such humility that she will sit on the top step of his showroom staircase and wait until his other customers have been cared for.

"I think hemlines will stay where they are for awhile," he

Teen Challenge Program Slated At Stone Ridge

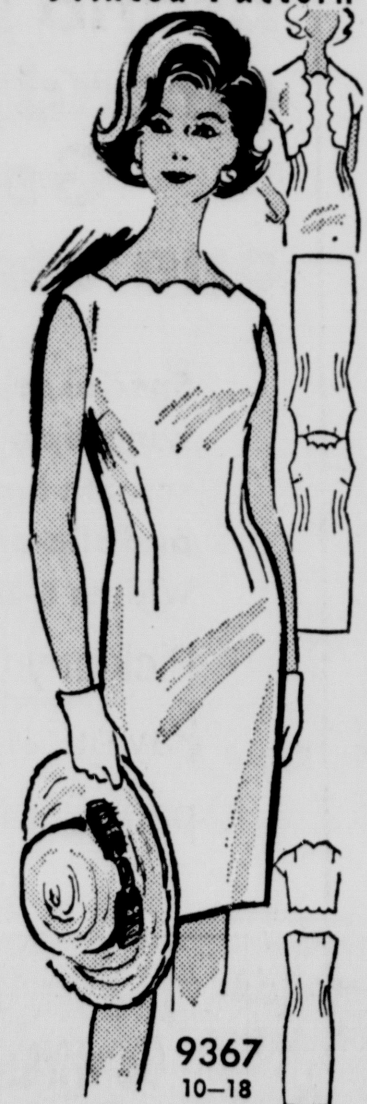

Students from Teen Challenge, Rhinebeck, will present a program at the Stone Ridge Legion Hall Sunday, Feb. 26, at 7:30 p. m.

A half-hour film, Youth in a Fix will be shown, depicting teenage problems, crime and drug addiction.

The students will testify of their religious conversion, social rehabilitation, and mental and physical cures, problems of delinquency and drug addiction will be discussed in the light of experiences and observations of the participants. The speaker for the group is the Rev. Edmund Cooksey, the present superintendent of Teen Challenge.

The program is sponsored by the Stone Ridge Bible Group, and the public may attend.

CALIFORNIA DESIGNER, WERLE, designs all the clothes Mario Thomas wears on her television series. And the fashions form part of his new boutique collection. Mario (left) chooses a beige twill coat that sports red jersey stripping from shoulder to hemline. Detailed with

said. "Then they will go straight down — no gradual drop."

We'll see. But meantime, the clothes he has designed for Mario Thomas show that although his heart is with the ultra-feminine fashions of the '30s and early '40s, he can still be a star in the '60s. And, incidentally, he does make some size 16s.

The Markets in Brief

There are more chickens in your future and more turkeys too, according to poultry magazine. The magazine forecasts that the country's broiler producers will grow and market 3.8 million of the tender, meaty birds by 1975, nearly twice as many as in 1965. If Poultry Magazine's soothsayers are correctly reading their crystal balls, chicken meat would be challenging pork as the second leading meat in the American diet, says Louise M. Kakargo, extension home economist. This optimism is based on the facts that the broiler industry is highly organized and can achieve economies in operations better and faster than red meat competitors, that red meat expansion will be limited, and that poultry convert feed into meat more efficiently than livestock.

Poultry Magazine goes on to say that turkey production will be doubled by 1975 and possibly before that time. Both broiler and turkey production will continue to shift to the South. The U. S. Food and Drug Administration has finally given the official go ahead on the use of whole fish protein concentrate as a food additive. Approval has been pending for some time. The product has been approved for sale directly to domestic consumers in packages of one pound or less. The Food and Drug Administration forbids bulk sales for the use of fish protein as an additive by food processors until data provided "demonstrating the proposed use will not be deceptive to the consumer". The commercial fishing industry has been fighting for approval of the fish protein as another market for the industry. A good overseas market is expected for the product.

At The Markets

Plentiful Foods for March have been announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and are as follows:

EGGS—The recent snowstorm in the East disrupted egg supplies for several days but the movement of eggs is back to normal. Prices are low and eggs represent one of the better protein buys on the market. For those who observe the Lenten regulations, eggs are versatile in their use—main dishes, salads, casseroles or snacks.

PORK—Pork marketings continue to run above a year ago and supplies are building up to a peak in the Spring. Pork is the lowest cost choice among the red meats. All pork is tender since it is marketed at less than a year old.

RICE, PEANUTS, AND PEANUT PRODUCTS — Both rice and peanut production set records in 1966. Rice production exceeded 1965 by 12 per cent and was the result of a 10 per cent increase in acreage. The U. S. Department of Agriculture reports that prices for rice are the same as or lower than a year ago, making rice an economical choice. Peanut production last year was 2 per cent greater than the previous record so peanuts continue in surplus. Peanuts are made into a large variety of products. Homemakers may wish to scatter chopped or halved peanuts on green peas or green beans to add a new note to these vegetables.

OTHER PLENTIFULS — Oranges, grapefruit, green split peas, canned salmon.

HOME BUILDERS DINNER—State officials and a group of area business and professional men attended the annual Legislators' reception and banquet held recently at Albany. The event was sponsored by the Home Builders Association of New York State. Attending from this area were: (l-r) Sam Hankin, Poughkeepsie, treasurer and director of the association; State Senator Jay P. Rolison Jr. (R-Ulster-Dutchess); Vincent Brancato, president of the Home Builders Association of the Hudson Valley; H. Clark

Bell, Kingston attorney, and delegate to the State Constitutional Convention and Malverne Cunningham, Kingston realtor and director of the New York State Home Builders Association. Others in attendance were Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson, Attorney General Louis Lefkowitz, Comptroller John Burns of the Office of Local Government and Fred J. Martin, New York State director of the Federal Housing Administration.

Mary VanDeMark Weds Martin Glowinski

Miss Mary VanDeMark, daughter of Edna VanDeMark of 34 Davis Street, this city, exchanged marriage vows with Martin John Glowinski, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Glowinski of 13 South Wilbur Avenue, Kingston, on February 12, 1967 at 1 p. m. in the Church of the Holy Name. Officiating clergyman for the double ring ceremony was the Rev. John G. Russell; Wayne Kushner was organist and Rita Hovers, soloist. The altar was decorated with white carnations and ivy for the occasion. Given in marriage by her uncle Clarence VanDeMark of Lake Katrine, the bride wore a gown of white satin styled with belted skirt and chapel length train. Her veil of English illusion was shirred to a coronet of seed pearls and she carried a cascade of white carnations with ivy.

Mrs. Gary Shorette of 124 North Front Street, Kingston, sister of the bridegroom, served as matron of honor. She wore an emerald green empire styled gown and a matching crown headpiece with a short veil. She carried a bouquet of white carnations tipped with yellow and green.

Betty Glowinski of 13 South Wilbur Avenue, sister of the bridegroom, and Brenda Surdez of 15 Dunn Street served as bridesmaids in gowns identical to that worn by the honor attendant, Marion Hoffman of Port Jervis. Even, cousin of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. She wore a cymelen velvet gown. All carried white carnations.

Linda Elgo of 5 Wilbur Avenue served as a flower girl. Gary R. Shorette, 124 North Front Street, Kingston, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Michael VanDeMark of 34 Davis Street, brother of the bride; Bruce Conlin and John Elgo, Frank Bean was the ringbearer.

A reception was given in Elmer's Inn, Ruby, N. Y. for 75 guests.

The bride and her husband are graduates of Kingston High School. Mrs. Glowinski is employed by Caldor's and her husband is employed by IBM in Kingston.

The couple will reside at 573 Albany Avenue, Extension, Kingston.

The Right Thing To Do

By Elizabeth L. Post

SPANKING IN PUBLIC

Dear Mrs. Post: Would you say something in your column about disciplining children in public? My wife and I visited some neighbors last evening and, while we were there, their nine-year-old daughter sassed her mother several times. The mother turned the girl over her knees and spanked her with a hairbrush, right there in the living room. The child was clearly embarrassed, and so were we.—Walter H.

Dear Walter: The mother's action was inexcusable. Humiliating a nine-year-old child in this way could build deep resentment. Moreover it is thoughtless to take any action which embarrasses your guests. Of course, the child was naughty and deserved punishment, but it should have been administered out of sight, in another room, or after you left.

Does Wife Attend Stepson's Funeral

Dear Mrs. Post: Was it out of order for a second wife to go with her husband to the funeral of his son (who had been living with his mother)? His first wife and her relatives seemed to resent her presence even though she had nothing to do with causing the divorce. She felt that she should be with her husband at that time, but would like to know if she was wrong.—Edith Kain

Dear Mrs. Kain: I suspect she knew in advance that her presence would not be welcome, and might be upsetting to the first wife, so it would have been better for her to stay away. A close friend or relative should have accompanied her husband in her place.

Impromptu House Tour Might Prove Embarrassing

Dear Mrs. Post: When one moves into a new home and friends drop in who have never seen the house, is it proper for the hostess to ask the guests if they wish to see the house, or is it up to the guests to ask to be shown around.—Viola L.

Dear Viola: It's up to the hostess. Although it would seem to show friendly interest if the guests asked to see the house, it also might embarrass the new home-owner terribly. It's just possible her breakfast dishes might still be in the sink or the laundry all over the bathroom floor.

Moving into a new neighborhood presents many problems in getting acquainted and being accepted. It would seem that once that is accomplished, the newcomers' difficulties would be over, but that is not necessarily so.

Neighborhood problems don't end. In fact they are endless.

Frequently, problems are apt to be swept under the rug because most people prefer to avoid unpleasant situations.

How much better it would be if all the irritations were brought into the open and discussed frankly, rather than be allowed to fester until a bitter feud develops!

Children are probably the commonest ground for resentment as well as for pleasure. Suppose your beloved little Sandy doesn't make a hit with the neighbor's six year-olds? They think she's a goody-goody, or she's too fat or she's too smart in school. Billy can't hit a baseball, so he isn't asked to join the neighborhood team; or he cries if some one shoves him, or they think he's a bully.

Never let your child suspect that you think the others are "brats" or unfair—he will copy your attitude and that will be the end of his ever being accepted into the gang. What you must do, no matter how difficult, is to encourage Sandy and Billy to keep trying. Ask the youngsters over to do things that yours can join in; invite them to a matinee or a beach picnic, pass out cookies and ice cream, or get Dad to organize some games that Billy can excel at. You may call this bribery, and in a way it is, but it's a worthwhile bribe if it opens the door to your children's contentment.

Other neighborhood problems have nothing whatever to do with children. Have you ever lived next door to a borrower? Every day she's out of sugar, or milk, or soap—in fact, you wonder if she ever goes to market at all. The first time or two it's not annoying. But the fifth time you have said, "Oh, never mind returning it, I have plenty left," you begin to wonder how you can stop the drain. There is only one way, and you can do it so politely that she'll be offering to help you out instead. Just tell her you're sorry, you forgot to put it on your list and you're all out yourself.

Another situation which people ask about is, "When I have a party especially an outdoor party which can be seen by every one nearby, do I have to invite my neighbors?" Of course, you don't have to invite your neighbors to every party you give, even if they're your closest friends.

I know people get very resentful over being "left out," but they shouldn't. Part of the fun of a party, is to see different faces, and most adults enjoy meeting people whom they don't see every day. If you ask all your neighbors to every party you give, you would never be able to include all the other interesting acquaintances you want to know better. Invite your closest friends over informally and frequently, and include them occasionally in more formal parties. But every time? — absolutely not!

Some people assume that because their yards are adjacent, they are welcome to use any tools or equipment their neighbors may have. This just isn't so. Unless Jim Jones has said, "Help yourself to my power mower any time you need it," don't take it!

Jim may have planned to cut his own grass at the same time, and he's too polite to come and ask you to return it before you're through. When, with his permission, you do borrow something, treat it better than you would your own, and be sure to put it back exactly where it was. My husband has turned apologetic on finding in May the snow shovel he had lent to Harry in January stuck out of sight behind the garage door, instead of on the hook reserved for it. In the meantime, forgetting he had lent it, he had, of course bought another.

Yard facilities, such as swimming pools, are also in the realm of the unapproachable except by specific invitation. In the case of a swimming pool, it is a matter of safety, as well as good manners. Every pool owner should, either by note or by word of mouth, ask every nearby family with small children to forbid them to go near the pool unless they are invited. The owner must also take every precaution to see that the gates are closed when there is no responsible person at the pool. This is a problem that must be faced by all concerned, and unless people take the situa-

PROCLAIMS AMERICAN HISTORY WEEK—Kingston Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan has designated the week of February 19-25 as American History Week. In signing the proclamation Mayor Garraghan paid tribute to Wiltwyck Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, for their community service. On hand for the signing were (l-r) Mrs. Adam H. Porter, DAR chairman of American History Month committee; and Mrs. E. R. Emory, Regent, Wiltwyck Chapter. (Freeman photo by John Krub)

New Math Course

Introduction to New Math with Mrs. Harriet Jones, instructor, will be held Feb. 21, 23 and March 7 at the Kingston YWCA 209 Clinton Avenue. All interested people may attend the three informal sessions, which will begin at 8 o'clock. YWCA membership is not required. A nominal registration fee will cover the three sessions. The YWCA is a member of the Ulster County Community Chest.

Life would, I guess, be very dull with no problems, and maybe neighborhood living would, too. Every difficulty successfully faced and solved makes an additional bond between friends. To me, the ideal community has no fences, physical or mental. This does not imply a right to infringe on one another's privacy; it should not be necessary to erect a fence to protect that. What it does imply physically is free community use of an area by both children and adults, and mentally, free exchange of ideas, mutual assistance, and friendship.

What is your most puzzling etiquette problem? To the sender of the most interesting question that we receive each week, we'll send a free copy of Emily Post's Etiquette, revised by Elizabeth L. Post. The question chosen, and its answer, will be published in this column every Friday. Send your question to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of this newspaper, and don't forget to include your name and address!

Werle Dresses 'That Girl'

By HELEN HENNESSY
Women's Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—California designer Dan Werle is living proof that designers, whatever their personal preferences, can keep on top of the times.

He thinks the Carnaby look is "cute" and has let its influence creep into the spring line from which Marlo Thomas, star of TV's That Girl series, chose many numbers. He also designed her wardrobe for the show.

Yet Werle, who is certainly too young to have been part of Irene Castle's world, loved the pretty, feminine, soft look that was part of her success. He thinks covered-up things are "really sexy."

Werle designed the clothes for the Loretta Young show—those beautiful, swirling skirts that made her entrance on stage so dramatic. He talks of the fitted waistline and full skirt as something that should never have gone down fashion's drain. But he's right with it today.

He thinks New York designers are more influenced by Paris than the California people.

"In New York, they blatantly copy Paris," he said. "I go to the collections because a designer must always know what's going on. But I don't copy."

Werle believes that although New Yorkers may take a dim view of the use of garish color and occasionally dramatic styling in California designs they would be better off to take a leaf from the California book. He thinks we conform too much.

"Women should take a chance—be a little more daring in their dress. Not theatrical, just imaginative instead of sheep."

He divulged a couple of secrets, too. Lana Turner is a 12 on top and a 10 around the hips. And Barbara Stanwyck is a lady endowed with such humility that she will sit on the top step of his showroom staircase and wait until his other customers have been cared for.

"I think hemlines will stay where they are for awhile," he said.

Teen Challenge Program Slated At Stone Ridge

Students from Teen Challenge, Rhinebeck, will present a program at the Stone Ridge Legion Hall Sunday, Feb. 26, at 7:30 p. m.

A half-hour film, Youth in a Fix will be shown, depicting teenage problems, crime and drug addiction.

The students will testify of their religious conversion, social rehabilitation, and mental and physical cures, problems of delinquency and drug addiction will be discussed in the light of experiences and observations of the participants. The speaker for the group is the Rev. Edmund Cooksey, the present superintendent of Teen Challenge.

The program is sponsored by the Stone Ridge Bible Group, and the public may attend.

The Markets in Brief

There are more chickens in your future and more turkeys too, according to poultry Magazine. The magazine forecasts that the country's broiler producers will grow and market 3.8 million of the tender, meaty birds by 1975, nearly twice as many as in 1965.

If Poultry Magazine's soothsayers are correctly reading their crystal balls, chicken meat would be challenging pork as the second leading meat in the American diet, says Louise M. Kakagor, extension home economist. This optimism is based on the facts that the broiler industry is highly organized and can achieve economies in operations better and faster than red meat competitors, that red meat expansion will be limited, and that poultry convert feed into meat more efficiently than livestock.

Poultry Magazine goes on to say that turkey production will be doubled by 1975 and possibly before that time. Both broiler and turkey production will continue to shift to the South.

The U. S. Food and Drug Administration has finally given the official go ahead on the use of whole fish protein concentrate as a food additive. Approval has been pending for some time. The product has been approved for sale directly to domestic consumers in packages of one pound or less. The Food and Drug Administration forbids bulk sales for the use of fish protein as an additive by food processors until data provided "demonstrating the proposed use will not be deceptive to the consumer." The commercial fishing industry has been fighting for approval of the fish protein as another market for the industry. A good overseas market is expected for the product.

At The Markets
Plentiful Foods for March have been announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and are as follows:

EGGS—The recent snowstorm in the East disrupted egg supplies for several days but the movement of eggs is back to normal. Prices are low and eggs represent one of the better protein buys on the market. For those who observe the Lenten regulations, eggs are versatile in their use—main dishes, salads, casseroles or snacks.

PORK—Pork marketings continue to run above a year ago and supplies are building up to

HOME BUILDERS DINNER—State officials and a group of area business and professional men attended the annual Legislators' reception and banquet held recently at Albany. The event was sponsored by the Home Builders Association of New York State. Attending from this area were: (l-r) Sam Hankin, Poughkeepsie, treasurer and director of the association; State Senator Jay P. Rollson Jr., (R-Ulster-Dutchess); Vincent Brancato, president of the Home Builders Association of the Hudson Valley; H. Clark

Bell, Kingston attorney and delegate to the State Constitutional Convention and Malverne Cunningham, Kingston realtor and director of the New York State Home Builders Association. Others in attendance were Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson, Attorney General Louis Lefkowitz, Commissioner John Burns of the Office of Local Government and Fred J. Martin, New York State director of the Federal Housing Administration.

Mary VanDeMark Weds Martin Glowinski

Miss Mary VanDeMark, daughter of Edna VanDeMark of 34 Davis Street, this city, exchanged marriage vows with Martin John Glowinski, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Glowinski of 13 South Wilbur Avenue, Kingston, on February 12, 1967 at 1 p. m. in the Church of the Holy Name. Officiating clergyman for the double ring ceremony was the Rev. John G. Russell; Wayne Kushner was organist and Rita Hovers, soloist. The altar was decorated with white carnations and ivy for the occasion. Given in marriage by her uncle Clarence VanDeMark of Lake Katrine, the bride wore a gown of white satin styled with beaded skirt and chapel length train. Her veil of English illusion was shirred to a coronet of seed pearls and she carried a cascade of white carnations with ivy.

Mrs. Gary Shorette of 124 North Front Street, Kingston, sister of the bridegroom, served as matron of honor. She wore an emerald green empire styled gown and a matching crown headpiece with a short veil. She carried a bouquet of white carnations tipped with yellow and green.

The couple will reside at 573 Albany Avenue Extension, Kingston.

The Right Thing To Do

By Elizabeth L. Post

SPANKING IN PUBLIC

Dear Mrs. Post: Would you say something in your column about disciplining children in public? My wife and I visited some neighbors last evening and, while we were there, their nine-year-old daughter sassed her mother several times. The mother turned the girl over her knees and spanked her with a hairbrush, right there in the living room. The child was clearly embarrassed, and so were we.

Walter H.

Dear Walter: The mother's action was inexcusable. Humiliating a nine-year-old child in this way could build deep resentment. Moreover it is thoughtless to take any action which embarrasses your guests. Of course, the child was naughty and deserved punishment, but it should have been administered out of sight, in another room, or after you left.

Does Wife Attend Stepson's Funeral

Dear Mrs. Post: Was it out of order for a second wife to go with her husband to the funeral of his son (who had been living with his mother)? His first wife and her relatives seemed to resent her presence even though she had nothing to do with causing the divorce. She felt that she should be with her husband at that time, but would like to know if she was wrong.

Edith Kain

Dear Mrs. Kain: I suspect she knew in advance that her presence would not be welcome, and might be upsetting to the first wife, so it would have been better for her to stay away. A close friend or relative should have accompanied her husband in her place.

Impromptu House Tour Might Prove Embarrassing

Dear Mrs. Post: When one moves into a new home and friends drop in who have never seen the house, is it proper for the hostess to ask the guests if they wish to see the house, or is it up to the guests to ask to be shown around.

Viola L.

Dear Viola: It's up to the hostess. Although it would seem to show friendly interest if the guests asked to see the house, it also might embarrass the new homeowner terribly. It's just possible her breakfast dishes might still be in the sink or the laundry all over the bathroom floor.

Moving into a new neighborhood presents many problems in getting acquainted and being accepted. It would seem that once that is accomplished, the newcomers' difficulties would be over, but that is not necessarily so.

Neighborhood problems don't end. In fact they are endless. Frequently, problems are apt to be swept under the rug because most people prefer to avoid unpleasant situations. How much better it would be if all the irritations were brought into the open and discussed frankly, rather than be allowed to fester until a bitter feud develops! Children are probably the commonest ground for resentment as well as for pleasure. Suppose your beloved little Sandy doesn't make a hit with the neighbor's six year-olds? They think she's a goody-goody, or she's too fat or she's too smart in school. Billy can't hit a baseball, so he isn't asked to join the neighborhood team; or he cries if someone shoves him, or they think he's a bully.

Never let your child suspect that you think the others are "brats" or unfair—he will copy your attitude and that will be the end of his ever being accepted into the gang. What you must do, no matter how difficult, is to encourage Sandy and Billy to keep trying. Ask the youngsters over to do things that yours can join in; invite them to a matinee or a beach picnic, pass out cookies and ice cream, or get Dad to organize some games that Billy can excel at. You may call this bribery, and in a way it is, but it's a worthwhile bribe if it opens the door to your children's contentment.

Other neighborhood problems have nothing whatever to do with children. Have you ever lived next door to a borrower? Every day she's out of sugar, or milk, or soap—in fact, you wonder if she ever goes to market at all. The first time or two it's not annoying. But the fifth time you have said, "Oh, never mind returning it, I have plenty left," you begin to wonder how you can stop the drain. There is only one way, and you can do it so politely that she'll be offering to help you out instead. Just tell her you're sorry, you forgot to put it on your list and you're all out yourself.

Another situation which people ask about is, "When I have a party especially an outdoor party which can be seen by every one nearby, do I have to invite my neighbors?" Of course, you don't have to invite your neighbors to every party you give, even if they're your closest friends.

I know people get very resentful over being "left out," but they shouldn't. Part of the fun of a party, is to see different faces and most adults enjoy meeting people whom they don't see every day. If you ask all your neighbors to every party you give, you would never be able to include all the other interesting acquaintances you want to know better. Invite your closest friends over informally and frequently, and include them occasionally in more formal parties. But in every case—absolutely not!

Some people assume that because their yards are adjacent, they are welcome to use any tools or equipment their neighbors may have. This just isn't so. Unless Jim Jones has said, "Help yourself to my power mower any time you need it," don't take it! Jim may have planned to cut his own grass at the same time, and he's too polite to come and ask you to return it before you're through. When, with his permission, you do borrow something, treat it better than you would your own, and be sure to put it back exactly where it was. My husband has turned apologetic on finding in May the snow shovel he had lent to Harry in January stuck out of sight behind the garage door, instead of on the hook reserved for it. In the meantime, forgetting he had lent it, he had, of course bought another.

Yard facilities, such as swimming pools, are also in the realm of the untouchable except by specific invitation. In the case of a swimming pool, it is a matter of safety, as well as good manners. Every pool owner should, either by note or by word of mouth, ask every nearby family with small children to forbid them to go near the pool unless they are invited. The owner must also take every precaution to see that the gates are closed when there is no responsible person at the pool. This is a problem that must be faced by all concerned, and unless people take the situa-

Palmer Beats Courtney In Tucson Open

By STEVE BASSETT
Associated Press Sports Writer
TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — "I just choked. Lots of guys will say they hit a spike mark, but all I hit was my putter."

That's how Chuck Courtney sized up the five-foot putt he missed on the 18th hole which gave the Tucson Open golf tournament title to Arnold Palmer by one stroke.

Courtney, 26, of La Jolla, Calif., had put the pressure on Palmer throughout Sunday's final 18 holes, erasing a seemingly comfortable four-stroke lead which Palmer had held since the start of play.

"It was just through Chuck's kindness that I was able to win," said Palmer, who pocketed the $12,000 top money to become the first double winner of the 1967 tour.

Up to the final 18 holes, Palmer seemed unstoppable as he finished the 54 holes with a 16-under-par 200 and threatened to set a new course record at the Tucson National Golf Club.

It was an almost unbelievable set of circumstances on the final hole which won Palmer the title despite a double bogey to give him a final round score of one-over-par 73.

Courtney, trying for his first tour win since the 1964 St. Paul Open, put his tee shot into the water along the right side of the fairway on the tough 455-yard, par-four finishing hole.

This gave Palmer a clear chance to wrap up the championship, but the tour's top money winner of all time tried to carry the same water with his drive and left it in the lake.

Asked later why he didn't try to play it safe, Palmer replied in characteristic fashion, "I felt I could drive the lake, so I tried it."

This left the issue in doubt until Courtney needed three putts to get down with a triple bogey while Palmer sank his second putt after the two players had gone into the final hole all even at 18 under par.

The down-hearted Courtney, who picked up the $7,200 second-place money, said, "And I had placed myself magnificently all day."

Bruce Crampton of Sydney, Australia, finished one stroke behind Courtney at 275 and won $4,500. John Schlee, the 1966 rookie of the year, finished at 277 and picked up $3,000.

Crespino, Schoneman Pace Winning Teams

Let by John Crespino's 684 gross, Mannie's Barber Shop squad of the city Minor League captured the 1967 team handicap championship in the 30th annual Kingston Bowling Association with a 3108 gross score.

Miron Lumber of the Invitational Classic rolled 2954 for the team net championship and recognition as tournament champions.

Crespino fired 624 in the wood and had 60 pins handicap for his 684 gross, highest in the winning competition. John (Daisy) Schatzel and Ralph Garafola each contributed 628 gross triples.

With 297 pins handicap, the Mannie's reeled off gross team slams of 1010, 1028 and 1070.

Bob Schoneman fired a 656 series of games of 220, 214, 222 to pace Miron Lumber's climb to the net title. Larry Weishaup furnished 648, as the Lumberjacks posted 1042, 968, 944.

Dick Howard's 260-655, the best net series to date, led State-wide Upholstery into second place with 2816 while Ferraro's Bowlerama of the Mid-City 3-Man Classic placed third with 2875.

Cablevision of the Invitational Classic was runnerup in the handicap division with 3090. Bill Glaser had 635 Gross, John Schatzel 679 and Ken Boughton. The team had 153 pins handicap to go with a net 2937.

Tennessee Tops Vanderbilt, Has Conference Lead

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Vanderbilt Coach Roy Skinner had a difficult time recognizing the Tennessee basketball team when the real Volunteers stood up Saturday, but there is no mistaking today.

As strange as it seems, the Volunteers are the lone first place team in the Southeastern Conference.

The picture came into focus when the Vols reversed an early season defeat and trimmed Vanderbilt 70-53 at Knoxville, breaking a first-place tie with the Commodores. It's been 22 years since they finished on top.

Skinner, whose club beat Tennessee 65-59 earlier, could not get over the improvement of the Vols, now 17-4 and 12-2 in their bid for the National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament.

"They are just not the same club," Skinner said.

However, none of the regional television viewers had any trouble recognizing Louisville, the nation's second-ranked team, as the class of the Missouri Valley Conference. The Cardinals ran their record to 22-2 by bombing Tulsa, their closest challenger, 82-64.

Top-ranked UCLA and Kansas, No. 6, also remained the clear-cut favorites to grab the Pacific 8 and Big Eight titles respectively after easy victories.

The Bruins outclassed Oregon 72-50 at Corvallis for a 21-0 mark and 9-0 in league play, and the Jayhawks 17-3, stopped Oklahoma 82-74 for an 8-1 league slate and a one-game lead over Nebraska.

Elsewhere, the picture was fuzzy.

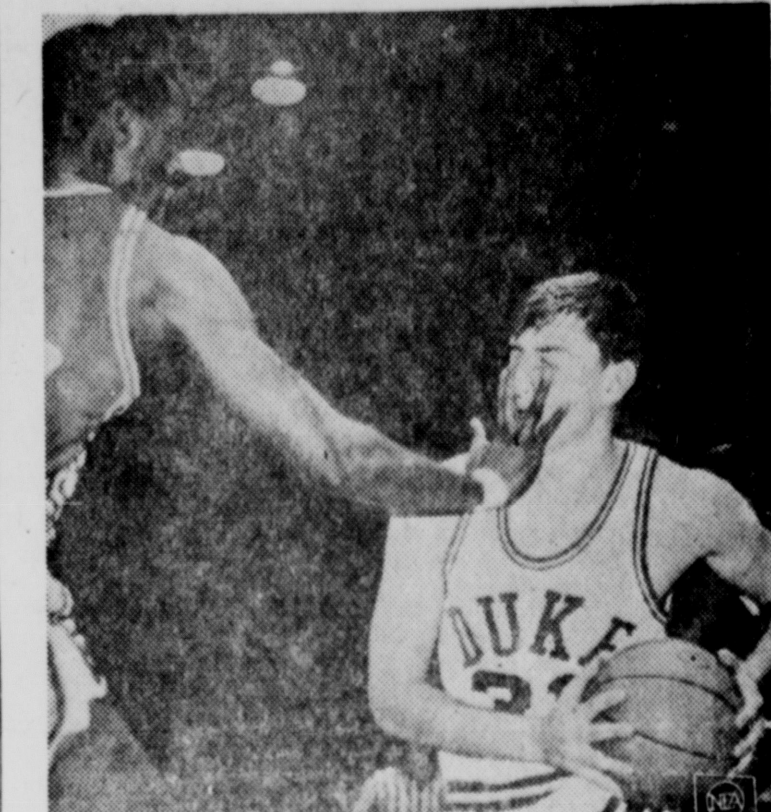

Cornell clouded the Ivy League race by upsetting third-ranked Princeton 62-56 at Ithaca, pulling into a first-place tie with the Tigers.

The Big Ten shifted gears again when Indiana pulled into a tie for first with Michigan State by dropping Northwestern 81-79 at Evanston while Wisconsin upset Iowa 96-95 in three overtimes at Iowa City and the Spartans beat Minnesota 67-66.

Iowa and Northwestern dropped into a second-place tie.

Fourth-ranked North Carolina, once the class of the Atlantic Coast Conference and favored to win the postseason conference tournament for the NCAA berth, was surprised by Clemson 92-88 at Charlotte.

The rest of the Top Ten breezed as fifth-rated Western Kentucky, 20-1, humbled Morehead 86-65 for its 20th straight victory; Houston, No. 7, won its 19th game in 22 decisions, defeating Miami, Fla., 106-86; eighth-ranked Texas Western, 17-5, beat Seattle 80-54; and No. 10 Syracuse, 19-2, defeated Georgetown, D.C., 108-85.

KEEP YOUR DISTANCE is the warning to Joe Kennedy of Duke who gets a not-so-gentle hand in the face from this defender. Joe got even. Duke won.

Rondout Grapplers Capture Tournament

Rondout Valley won its third Independent Wrestling tournament in four years with 112 points Saturday at the RVC school.

Coach Larry Skalla's grapplers had to capture the final four matches to catch and pass second place Ellenville. The Ellies closed with 96 points.

Other schools were Onteora, 54; Monticello, 28; Walkkill, 28; Fallsburg, 20.

First place winners will compete Saturday in the section Nine meet, slated to be held at Suffern High School.

For St. Joseph's

St. Joseph's Jayvees trounced St. Mary of the Snow (Saugerties), 48-28, to remain unbeaten with a perfect 8-0 record in Ulster County CYO competition.

The locals blanked the visitors in the first quarter at the JFK School gym and went on to an easy victory.

Don Williams potted 16 and Dave Scholier 10 for the winners. Dave Smith led Saugerties with 10 points.

Tigers Hoping To Turn Tables
Against Cornell

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Princeton, rudely treated on the Cornell home court over the weekend, gets a chance to return the favor Saturday in a game that may decide the Ivy League basketball championship.

Cornell dealt the third-rated Tigers their first league defeat of the season Saturday, winning 62-56 and tying Princeton atop the league standings at 10-1.

Cornell must beat Pennsylvania in Philadelphia Friday, then knock off Princeton again the following day in New Jersey if the Big Red is to win its first Ivy title in 13 years. Princeton takes on Columbia on Friday.

Yale, in third place in the league standings, beat Dartmouth 71-61 on Saturday, while Columbia took Penn 68-60 and Harvard bounced Brown 92-77.

Other games this weekend have Columbia at Penn on Saturday, Dartmouth at Brown on Friday and at Yale Saturday, Harvard at Yale Friday and at Brown Saturday, and Columbia at Penn Saturday.

The word "eucalyptus" comes from the Greek for "well-hidden," referring to the peculiar cap which covers the flower buds.

Overhauling 76ers
Problem for CeltsWilt, Company
Now Lead by 8 1/2

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Philadelphia 76ers proved it's going to take quite a comeback to beat them out of the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division title.

The St. Louis Hawks tried it Sunday and failed, and it now appears the same fate awaits the Boston Celtics.

The 76ers blew a 23-point third-quarter lead against St. Louis and still won, 123-122, re-establishing an 8 1/2-game lead over the Celtics after they wilted to 5 1/2 last week.

With only 15 games left for Philadelphia, Boston's chances of regaining the division title they lost to the 76ers last year appear slim. Boston has 18 games remaining.

The 76er victory also discouraged St. Louis's hopes of catching San Francisco in the Western Division as the Hawks fell eight games back in second place.

Baltimore also jumped to a big lead against Detroit, but the Pistons never made a move and the injured Bulls claimed a 131-104 victory in Detroit.

Bulls Beat LA

The Chicago Bulls overtook Los Angeles 133-119 in California in the other game.

The Hawks trailed 92-69 late in the third quarter when rookie Lou Hudson, who finished with 38 points, set them afire in the nationally televised contest in St. Louis.

A 46-point final period put the Hawks ahead 122-120 with a minute left, but Wilt Chamberlain stuffed a rebound to tie the count.

When the Hawks missed with 10 seconds remaining, Bill Cunningham grabbed the rebound for the 76ers and was fouled while trying to call time out. He sank only one of three free throws with six seconds left, but it was enough as St. Louis flubbed a try at a final shot.

Scott 30 Points

Baltimore took a 17-point first quarter lead and protected it as former Piston Ray Scott had 30 points and Jack Marin and LeRoy Ellis had 26 each. The Bulls were playing without injured Don Ohl, Gus Johnson and Johnny Green.

The Lakers led 63-62 at the half and clung to narrow leads in the final two periods before Don Kojis hit four points for a 94-93 Chicago lead and the Bulls pulled away.

Jerry Sloan finished with 31 points for the Bulls while Jerry West and Elgin Baylor each had 27 for Los Angeles.

In Saturday night's action, New York edged Cincinnati 124-123. Detroit turned back Baltimore 118-113 and San Francisco downed Boston 130-124.

BASEBALL
PREVIEWxNEW YORK YANKEES
By SANDY PADWE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

PITCHING—Yankees in deep trouble when they invite such 40-year-old minor league pitchers as Chi Chi Olivo to spring training. A Joe Page he isn't. Or a Johnny Sain. Jim Bouton the key. Had best ERA among starters in 1966 after year and a half of arm problems. His 3-8 record very misleading. Mel Stottlemyre (12-20) slipped last year. Al Downing (10-11) was usual inconsistent self. Fred Talbot (11-11) not much better. Lefty Fritz Peterson (12-11) showed promise. Steve Hamilton, Dooley Womack, Hal Reniff did some good relief work. Whitey Ford gets last chance in camp to see if arm has healed. Stan Bahnsen, Rich Beck, Bill Henry rookies with a chance. RATING—B-.

INFIELD—Mickey Mantle at first is great risk. A lot of bunts will roll his way. Yanks willing to go along with him. His name is still box office, one of the last in baseball. Horace Clarke (.266) inherits Bobby Richardson's job at second base. Dick Howser, Bobby Murcer, Ruben Amara in battle for shortstop job. Former Met Charlie Smith returns to New York in Yankee pinstripes. He'll be at third. How things have changed. RATING—C+.

CATCHING—Elston Howard is 38, may be playing more at first base this year. Jake Gibbs ready to take No. 1 job, but he'll never be another Howard. Bill Bryan, a weak hitter, is back-up man. RATING—C+.

BENCH—Once it was Johnny Mize, Joe Collins, Bob Cerv, Irv Noren. All could break a game up with one cut. Now it's Lou Clinton, Mike Hegan, Ross Mosschuit. They'd have trouble breaking a bat with one cut. RATING—C.

SUMMARY—Pitching: Tresh, Pepitone the strongest points. If Bouton comes back, Yanks will be much stronger. If not, they still have material to escape last place. But it will be a struggle. PREDICTION—Unless Chi Chi Olivo has a secret pitch, 8TH.

Why Volkswagen doesn't have a
Washington's Birthday sale on Washington's Birthday.

You can buy a brand-new Volkswagen sedan for $1,639* on anybody's birthday, any day of the year. Which isn't a bad price for a full-fledged car.

Neither is $2,295* for the Squareback Sedan, $2,143* for the Fastback Sedan, $2,445* for the big box. And $2,250* for the Karmann Ghia.

With a Volkswagen, the joyful holiday spirit of economy lasts the whole year round. (Over a period of five years, you'll find that running one is almost as cheap as buying one.)

That means if you drive a bug and you go 27 miles, you'll end up using just about a gallon of gasoline.

Or when you go 40,000 miles, you might end up using a set of tires.

One way you won't end up is with a frozen motor. The VW has an air-cooled engine that won't freeze up in the winter or boil over in the summer. Simply because there's no water to do the freezing or boiling.

These are a couple of very good reasons for buying a Volkswagen, even if it isn't somebody's birthday.

14th Victory Establishes UCCC Record

Reserves had plenty of playing time Saturday as Ulster Community College set a school record with its 14th win of the season, a 122-43 rout of the New Paltz Frosh at the Municipal Auditorium.

In going over the century mark for the seventh time this year, coach Mike Perry's cagers roared to a 29-9 lead in the first half and had a commanding, 66-26, margin at intermission.

Rod Chando led the eight players in double figures for the Senators with 21 points. Ulster shot a blistering 64 per cent from the floor, getting 52 baskets in 81 tries. Captain Brad Meyer, closing his home career, garnered 10 rebounds.

With 14 victories under lock and key, the Senators close their season with a pair of road engagements Tuesday and Wednesday night. They travel to Rockland on Tuesday for a Mid-Hudson Conference contest and are at Concordia Junior College the following evening.

Last year's UCCC club, the first coached by Perry, had a 13-8 mark. With two wins this week, the 1966-67 edition can close with 16-8.

Newburgh Captures DUSO Wrestling Title

Newburgh Free Academy won four individual championships and finished with 98 points to win DUSO wrestling honors Saturday in Port Jervis. The grappling title is the first in the history of the school.

Following the pre-tournament favorite was Middletown with 78 points. Liberty had 72, Port Jervis 63 and Kingston 18.

Three of the KHS wrestlers took third place. Gary Charlton was third in the 130-pound class; Russ Wilber placed third in the 168-pound class and Rick Clausi took a third in the heavyweight division.

Tony Ptak of Middletown, a winner in the 136-pound class, was named the tournament's top wrestler.

Beaumont, Tony's, Mirror Lake Win Rec League Tilts

Close games were featured in Sunday's Kingston Rec Basketball League at the Municipal Auditorium.

Beaumont's nipped Stone Ridge, 58-56; Tony's Pizzeria squeezed by Whitman, 64-62, and Mirror Lake stopped Highcliff, 81-64.

Four of the five Beaumont players scored in double figures in the triumph over Stone Ridge. Cliff Schoonmaker led both sides with 20 points.

Bill Huber potted 27 points in leading Tony's to its close decision over Whitman. Bill Itzla hit for 21 to lead the losers.

Frank Passante rimmed 34 markers for Mirror Lake. Ted Ruffus topped Highcliff with 27. The winners led at each quarter stop.

Stokes, Whitfield In Week's Top Bout

Two world boxing champions will appear Monday in non-title bouts that will add a little spice to a sparse weekly boxing program.

Curtis Cokes of Dallas, the new welterweight king, will box Ted Whitfield of Boston in a non-title 10-rounder in Dallas. Cokes has promised Whitfield a shot at the crown if he wins, possibly in May. The Bostonian's manager guarantees $25,000 for a title bout.

Horacio Accavallo of Argentina, the flyweight king, takes on Kiyoshi Tanabe of Japan in a Tokyo ring. The Argentine's manager says the Japanese fighter will be granted a championship match if he wins clearly.

Proposes State Expand Role in Housing Subsidy

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The state's legislators had on their desks today a proposal from Gov. Rockefeller that would expand the state's role in subsidizing housing for low-income families.

Limited Assistance

The Republican governor proposed Saturday to offer limited assistance for public housing with $6 million appropriated in the last three years.

In a special message to the Legislature, he noted that the electorate in recent years repeatedly had voted down proposals for state borrowing for public housing.

As a result, he said, the state government should make more new housing available for low-income families, encourage construction of housing for elderly persons and draft a state building-conservation code.

Rockefeller recalled that the 1964 session of the Legislature had approved his plan to permit the Housing Finance Agency to subsidize low-rent housing in middle-income projects built with private funds.

The idea was to help low-income families break the pattern which the governor said, often accompanies public housing.

The governor urged that this program be extended to include limited-profit cooperatives. He offered a measure that would authorize the Housing Finance Agency to buy stock in cooperatives, lease up to one fifth of the apartments in such cooperatives, and to sub-lease them to low-income families.

The state would pay most of the rent, but as the tenant's rent increases, the tenant would buy the stock and eventually assume the full burden, the governor suggested.

At the same time, Rockefeller sought legislation that would increase from 20 per cent to 50 per cent the percentage of limited-profit apartments under the Rent Assistance program. This increase, he said, would apply only where the state finds that "unusually difficult housing conditions exist."

In a move designed to provide more housing for the elderly, Rockefeller said he would appoint a special council to encourage non-profit organizations to apply for state funds earmarked for launching such projects.

To help preserve buildings, he suggested the building conservation code to establish maintenance and occupancy standards, under local option.

Allies May Balk At U. S. Soviet A-Ban Agreement

GENEVA (AP)—The United States faces more opposition from friends and allies than from the Soviet Union in completing a treaty to stop the spread of nuclear weapons.

American and Soviet negotiators have reached an understanding on nearly all key points.

An informal draft will be put before the 17-nation disarmament conference, resuming Tuesday.

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization Council approved an outline of the treaty earlier this month, but France, West Germany and Italy expressed reservations.

West Germany pictures it as a discriminatory obstacle to industry and technology. India, Sweden, Israel and Switzerland also have expressed doubts.

Conference officials seem convinced that most of the obstacles will be overcome by late spring. If not, the issue may be held over until the U.N. General Assembly meets in the fall.

Eight neutral countries at the Burma, Ethiopia, India, Mexico, Nigeria, Sweden and Egypt—are not expected to put up serious opposition, despite the objections some express.

Japan, Switzerland and Israel, not taking part in the conference but capable of nuclear development, have little choice but to accept the treaty.

Among the four Western powers at the conference, the United States, Britain and Canada are united in their accord with the Soviet Union.

The fourth, Italy, shares many of West Germany's apprehensions. Both countries object to a proposed ban on nuclear blasts for peaceful purposes and to controls to be maintained by the International Atomic Energy Agency.

West Germany is not a conference member but is represented by an influential observer, Siegfried Schnippenkoetter. His government seeks behind the scenes to form a "united front" of Western nations with misgivings about the treaty.

France boycotts the conference and says it will not sign a nonproliferation treaty.

The treaty would confirm France as one of five nations permitted to hold nuclear weapons. The French government seems reluctant to join what could appear to be a worldwide coalition against Red China.

China, also absent here, calls the treaty a Soviet-American plot to consolidate "world imperialism."

Western officials say the attitudes of Red China and France don't kill the treaty. They feel France is unlikely to pass on its nuclear weapons or nuclear secrets to other nations. China's posture "has to live with treaty or no treaty," one official commented.

The famous "golden horseshoe" was filled, as usual, with gorgeously gowned and bejeweled women, immaculately togged men, with their ermine wraps, diamond brooches, necklaces, tiaras.—Toronto Daily Star.

A clergyman was quite ill as a result of eating many pieces of mince pie.

A brother minister visited him and asked him if he was afraid to die.

Rev. Green—No, but I should be ashamed to die from eating too much.

The modern woman tries to get the most out of an evening gown.

The patient gazed morosely at the doctor.

Dr. Bass (in a soothing tone)—Now, now, don't look so glum. I've had the same illness myself.

Mr. Smith (moaned)—Sure. But you didn't have the same doctor.

If you hurry over the pathway of life too fast, you will miss the signposts pointing to the pleasure spots off the beaten path.

Two men, both named Larry Wright but not related, were admitted on the same day last summer to a hospital at Durango, Colo. They had the same room, and both were treated for fractured knees.—Mrs. Beulah Brewster, Ignacio, Colo.

The clergyman's eloquence may have been at fault, still he felt annoyed to find that an old gentleman fell asleep during the sermon on two consecutive Sundays. So, after service on the second week, he told the boy who accompanied the sleeper that he wished to speak to him in the vestry.

Rev. Blank (when they were closeted together)—My boy, who is that elderly gentleman you attend church with?

Young Tom—Grandpa.

Rev. Blank—Well, if you will only keep him awake during my sermon I'll give you a nickel each week.

The boy fell in with the arrangement, and for the next two weeks the old gentleman listened attentively to the sermon. The third week, however, found him soundly asleep.

The vexed clergyman sent for the boy and said:

Rev. Blank—I am very angry with you. Your grandpa was asleep again today. Didn't I promise you a nickel a week to keep him awake?

Young Tom—Yes, but grandpa now gives me a dime not to disturb him.

The Size of God

Mohawk, Unions Differ

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Officials of Mohawk Airlines and a mechanics union were at odds today over an airline plan to place reprints of an article on unionism in aircraft seat-back pockets.
Thirty-five employees of the Utica-based airline struck for nearly 12 hours Saturday in protest, charging that the company was using the reprints in retaliation for a recent system-wide strike against Mohawk.

DeGroff Re-elected by CP; Other Officers Are Named

The board of directors of United Cerebral Palsy of Ulster County elected Edward V. deGroff, Kingston, as president for the third successive year at the annual meeting held last week.

Elected to serve with deGroff on the board were: vice president, Lawrence M. Jensen, Dr. Loughran, Mrs. Gerald Sumner, and Mrs. Martin Oberkirch Jr.; treasurer, Oscar J. Lewatsch; secretary, Mrs. Milton Grover; and executive secretary, Miss Mary Keresman. Elected as honorary directors were Mrs. Henry L. Bibby and Capt. "Yank" Albecht. Newly elected to the board were Mrs. George Cobb and William J. White Jr., of Catskill; Charles Penny of Wallkill; the Rev. Gerald Sutcliffe of Clinton; and Stanley Hankinson, Kingston.

Re-elected to the board for a one-year term were: Mrs. Stephen Hyatt, Dr. Irving Josephson, Mr. William Scafield, Thomas Secher, Joseph Shuler, Mrs. Robert Dolan, Paul A. Modjeska. For a two-year term: Joseph Y. Resnick, Mrs. Murray Fletcher and Hubert H. Richter and for a three-year term: Mrs. Martin Nilan and Dr. Elbert F. MacFadden Jr.

Annual Reports Given
Mrs. Charlotte Peck, center director, in her annual report noted that this closed the 15th year of the center's operation. She said that much has been learned about the handicapping problems of the cerebral palsied, the brain injured children, and of those with speech and hearing disorders. "The most important factor we have learned is that even though a handicap may place a prop upon a child's body, it should never be allowed to become a ceiling on the child's potential for achievement," she said. "Two hundred fifty-eight of the children who received therapy at the Center throughout the year of 1966 also attended school; this is a great stride forward for these children."

She expressed her gratitude and that of the board of directors to all those who in any way helped the center and noted that without contributions, both great and small, it would be impossible for the center to exist.

Mrs. Martin Nilan, chairman of the 1966 fund raising campaign, reported that donations from areas outside the Community Chest reached $6,751.49 of the $8,500 goal. She said that the monies came from the following towns: in Ulster County—Denning $70, Gardiner $150, West Hurley $381.93, Lloyd $189.50, Marlboro $330.67, Milton $9.62, Olive $308.91, Modena $210, Ardonia $50.45, Plattkill $211.05, Clintondale $81.50, Accord $143.15, Phoenixia $50.75, Pine Hill $200, Mt. Tremper $130.47, Shawangunk $1,037.99, Woodstock $293.10, Hardenburg $58.30; in Greene County—Catskill $856.90, Cementon $42.30, Hunter $26.61, Cairo $4, Palenville $8; and Greenville $25; Special Events $1,632.37; and miscellaneous contributions $249.73.

Town Leaders Listed

Assisting Mrs. Nilan in the drive as town campaign leaders were: Harold Van Aker, Mrs. Herbert George, Mrs. Oscar Jensen, Mrs. Samuel Stokes, Mrs. Francis Devlin, Mrs. George Dahlgren, Phillip Schunck, the Rev. John Burns, Mrs. Kenneth Taber, Mrs. Hazel Osborne, 4 Seasons 4H Club, leader Mrs. Marie Reilly, Mrs. Betty Smith, Mrs. Frances Donato, Clintondale Youth Fellowship, leader the Rev. Gerald Sutcliffe, Lucky Clover 4H Club, leader Mrs. Charles McGuffey, Miss Sarah Kelley, Mrs. Burton Gardner, Mr. Trumper Junior Grange, leader Mrs. Robert Carle, Mr. & Mrs. Charles Penny, Peter Parker, Mr. Bowen Owen, Mrs. William White, Jr., Mrs. Earl Tratnick, Mrs. Jacqueline Legg, Mrs. Frank Palace and 4H Club South Cairo Hustlers 4H Club, leader Mrs. Elena DiPrima, Mrs. John Maure, and Mrs. Orloff Bear.

In making her report, Mrs. Nilan said, "Each and every one of you did a splendid job and am most grateful to you on behalf of the handicapped children receiving treatment at the Cerebral Palsy Center. We, who also work voluntarily for the center, hope you will continue your kindness through 1967 to help our children."

The Cerebral Palsy Center, 400 Broadway, Kingston, a member agency of the Community Chest, treats all physically handicapped children to age 18 throughout Ulster and Greene Counties.

The public may call the center for information or help and to visit the Center at any time from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. Monday through Friday.

Marquette Dividend

CHICAGO — The regular first quarterly dividend on the common shares of Marquette Cement Manufacturing Company, amounting to 15c per share, will be paid March 14 to shareholders of record at the close of business on March 2. This was authorized by the company's Board of Directors at a meeting here today.

Study Shows Big National Killer Is Heart Disease

Heart disease is by far the leading cause of death among insured persons, just as it is in the general population, according to statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. And in both classes, arteriosclerotic heart disease — mainly coronary — continues as the chief killer.

However, the cardiac death rate is substantially higher for the general population, by about one-eighth for males and nearly one-fifth for females, they added.

In 1964-65, the last period for which figures are available, 337 per 100,000 insured males died of heart disease among standard Ordinary policyholders of Metropolitan Life. Of these deaths, 86 per cent were reported due to arteriosclerotic disease. Among insured females the cardiac death rate was 173 per 100,000, with arteriosclerotic heart disease accounting for 72 per cent.

Among males in the United States population in 1964 there were 375 heart disease deaths per 100,000, with 81 per cent attributed to arteriosclerotic heart disease. Among females in the general population, the cardiac death rate was 201 per 100,000, with 71 per cent ascribed to arteriosclerotic heart disease.

These differences may be due in part to the generally higher social and economic status of insured persons as a group and to the initial exclusion of applicants with health impairments from those to whom ordinary insurance is issued at standard premium rates.

Metropolitan's study also pointed up other differences between the general population and insured persons, with respect to the relative importance of various forms of heart disease.

Arteriosclerotic heart disease claimed a larger proportion of cardiac deaths among insured men than in the general population, but about the same percentage in the case of women.

The proportion of deaths from hypertensive heart disease was almost 1½ times larger in the population than among the insured. Congenital heart disease among males in the population took more than twice the share of cardiac deaths it took among insured males.

From 1950 to 1912, Washington, D. C., was used as the prime meridian in the United States.

Kaseman Ends Course

Army Private Frederick A. Kaseman Jr., 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Kaseman, Phoenixia, completed eight weeks of advanced infantry training recently at Fort Ord, Calif. He received instruction in small unit tactics and in firing such weapons as the M-14 rifle, the M-60 machine gun and the 3.5-inch rocket launcher.

Census statistics reveal that more than half of the present U.S. population is less than 30 years old.

Hold Wallkill Man For Grand Jury

David Duane Myers, 22, of Hoagland Road, Wallkill, was apprehended at 10 p. m. Sunday by Highland State Police and New Paltz village authorities on charges of burglary, third degree and second degree grand larceny.

Trooper J. F. Czaplicki said Myers was accused of entering the Wallkill Ford Garage on Route 208 and taking six automobile tires. Czaplicki said the tires were recovered.

BCI Investigator Robert F. Greaves and Trooper Jack Ostmark and village police arrested Myers at the garage, troopers said.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Rexford Schneider, Town of New Paltz, on the two charges, Myers waived preliminary examination and was ordered held for grand jury action.
